THE LURE OF "ODD MONEY"

GILBERT S. PEREZ

Department of Instruction, Manila, P. I.

To those who have had an extensive and intimate contact with primitive peoples, the classification of all barter material or currency as money does not seem to be in accordance with either social, economic or numismatic realities. For centuries and milleniae the commerce of the world was conducted on a barter basis and to classify as money any or all articles that have been utilized in barter transactions is stretching the term, "money," to such an extent that this would mean the classification of every article of food, shelter, and clothing used by a primitive or semi-primitive society, on a monetary or numismatic basis.

There would be hatchet money, pot money, spear money, dowry money, arrow money, canoe money, shark fin money, and so on ad infinitum. To house a representative collection of these items would necessitate at least a dozen ethnology exhibition hall of a Smithsonian Institution or Fields Museum. If this increase in the number and varieties of barter units qualifying as "money" continues we may yet have collectors who will place in their cabinets a little stuffed yellow canary labeled "canary money" simply because Hitler might have bartered a boatload of these Hartz mountain warblers for a shipload of Argentine beef. Among all primitive peoples barter units acquire the characteristics of money only when a particular barter material is taken as a standard medium of evaluation and exchange and with definite values that are generally fixed and accepted within the tribal group and among neighboring social groups with whom they have barter relationships.

Long before the arrival of the Spaniards gold and silver were utilized extensively by the Filipinos as barter material. It was only with the coming of the Spaniards that gold and silver acquired a monetary value. According to Romualdez, the first Spanish currency that reached the Philippines must have been the half-peso silver, 4 reales, which the Filipinos called "salapi" a word which also means any silver currency without reference to the coin utilized. That the salapi was the first Spanish coin that reached the Philippines is shown by the fact that the coin was made the basis of the native name of the different monetary fractions: half of the salapi—2 reales, or 25 cents was called kahati (from kalahati which means one-half); a fourth part of the salapi or  $2\frac{1}{2}$  cents or one real was called "sikapat" meaning one fourth; an eighth fraction or  $6\frac{1}{4}$  cents was called sikolo for "sa ikawalo" or one-eighth part.\* It is only when the silver metal, the pilac, acquired fixed values in the form of coins that it really became "salapi," money, and not merely a barter medium like pots, salt, cloth, and copper wire.

In 1935 I made a trip to the Mountain Province with a famous writer of the "Saturday Evening Post" as he was more interested in the study of the primitive than he was in the Commonwealth inauguration festivities. While in Bontoc he was approached by a Bontoc medicine man who wanted to barter a "gayuma" or love amulet for a few pieces of silver or Philippine Currency. This amulet was a little carved bamboo tube sealed with bees wax and tied to a bark-string cord. As he was a mere visitor and an outsider, the barter price was much less than it would have been if bartered for by a native Bontoc bachelor. Anyway he purchased the little tube of bamboo and had he been a collector of "odd money" he could have placed it in his cabinet as an authentic specimen of genuine Bontoc "love money." He took it home together with other barter material that he had collected on the trip, but the next time he came to Manila he brought a bride along with him and our expeditions into the primitive were more academic than ethnological. Evidently there was something more than money value in the little bamboo tube.

In the upper waters of the Agusan River in Mindanao there is a barter article of wear made by the Manobos silversmith by pounding a peso piece until it attains the dimension of a saucer. These are worn by Manobo women as an ornament and I had considerable difficulty in purchasing even one. Its weight was that of a peso and it plays a very important part in all dowry negotiations and arrangements. I had to give two pigs in exchange for the specimen which I finally acquired. Although this specimen is of metal and of fixed weight and fineness and although it is extensively used in barter transaction I would not consider it as "odd money." To the anthropologist, a string of shells from the headwaters of the Agusan River is a string of shells and not a piece of "Manobo necklace money."

Perhaps it would be best, in order to acquire the proper sense of proportion and of reality, to make a brief study of a primitive group and try to arrive at some definite conclusions as to what may be classified as mere barter materials and those articles which have fixed relative values and have a closer relationship with money. The Bontoc Ingorots of the Mountain Province in the Philippines may be utilized in this study and may be considered as a typical primitive group using both barter and money and at the same time having values based on one very important barter material which may be properly classified under the heading of money by economist and "odd money" by numismatists who have a weakness for the bulky and the bizarre.

* Romualdez, The Soul of the Filipino, pp. 17.

With a Good Supply of Money he is not Afraid of Inflation

In Bontoc most commerce was and is still carried on by barter. In a pueblo having no legalized currency people "swap" or trade among themselves but when there is a systematic exchange of the products of one community for those of another we may consider this to be more in the light of barter than mere "swapping" or exchanging.

As an illustration we may consider the barter that obtained and which is still practiced to a great extent in some of the Bontoc pueblos. Samoki makes the rice seive and the transportation basket, the tayaan. These they use in bartering with other pueblos. Tutukan and Tanglog grow tobacco which passes westward in trade from town to town. Together with her rice seive Samoki barter extensively in rice pots and wine jars. As the average life of a rice pot is one year, or less, at least 24,000 Samoki rice pots are needed annually to supply the demand. Some years ago, during a severe state of feud, Samoki pots increased in value thirty fold. Salt from the pueblo of Mayinit passes as barter to as many pueblos as do the Samoki pots. In Suyok, gold, silver and copper earrings are bartered; the price of one gold earring being as high as two carabaos each. This particular form of barter has been carried on for generations.

Bontoc Igorots Earrings Amulets

These earrings which may also be classified as amulets, are of superior workmanship and of very pleasing design and when offered in the Baguio, which is very seldom, are eagerly purchased by visiting tourists. The main barter article of Barlig is the Barlig rain hat that is always coated with beeswax.

Although the barter medium of each town differs from others, the basic values are in reality gauged on the main, standard and fixed barter material that is common to all, the most important commodity in the Bontoc economic set-up. That barter material is palay or unthreshed rice. That is the only barter material which may be considered with a little stretch of the imagination, as "odd money." Jenks in his ethnological study of the people of that region, "The Bontoc Igorots," makes the following comments on the Igorot rice money:

That a people with such incipient social and political institutions as has the Bontoc Igorot should have developed a "money" is remarkable. The North American Indian with his strong tendency and adaptability to political organization had no such money. Nothing of the kind has been presented as belonging to the Australian of ultra-social development, and I am not aware that anything equal has been produced by other similar primitive peoples. However, it seems not improbable that allied tribes (say of Malayan stock) which solved the problem of subsistence in a like way have similar currency, although I find no mention of it among four score writers whose observations on similar tribes of Borneo have come to hand, and nothing similar has yet been found in the Philippines.

The Bontoc Igorot has a "medium of exchange" which gives "measure of exchange value" for articles bought and sold, and which has a "standard value." In other words he has "good money"—probably the best money that could have been devised by him for his society. It is his staple product—palay, the unthreshed rice.

Palay is at all times good money, and it is the thing commonly employed in exchange. It answers every purpose of a suitable medium of exchange. It is always in demand, since it is the staple food. It is kept eight or ten years without deterioration. Except when used to purchase clothing, it is seldom heavier or more difficult to transport than is the object for which it is exchanged. It is of very stable value, so much that as a purchaser of Igorot labor and products, its value is constant; and it can not be counterfeited.

Aside from this universal medium of exchange, the characteristic production of each community, in a minor way, answers for the community the needs of a medium of exchange.

Today as formerly, the live pig and hog and pieces of pork and carabao meat are used a great deal in barter. As far back as the pueblo memory extends pigs have been used to purchase a particularly good breechcloth called "balakes," made in Balangao, three days east of Bontoc.*

Whether the exchange of goods is made by barter or purchased with coin or paper money the value of all things from a 5c block of Mayinit salt to a 4 gallon Samoki wine jar or a $70 carabao—all are measured in terms of palay or unthreshed rice. Today as formerly every bargain between two Igorots is made in the palay value of the article bought or bartered. Whether the payment is in corn or in cattle the palay value is always the foremost consideration.

The standard of value of palay is the sin finge—the Spanish manojo, or handful, a small bunch of palay tied up immediately below the fruit heads. It is about one foot long, half head and half straw. While the value of such a standard varies with the scarcity or abundance of the annual rice crop there is a fixed uniformity in the size of the sin finge and all values are satisfactorily taken from it.

An elaborate palay currency has been evolved from the standard, sin finge. The following denominations are taken from Jenks' table of palay currency.

Denominations	Number of Handfuls

Siniting .....	5
Chuwaiting .....	10

To those who are interested it may be possible to acquire the smaller denomination of palay or rice money but the more ambitious who would like to have a complete collection of all denominations from the sin finge to the sinopofutek will have to wait until the freight and insurance rates between Manila and San Francisco have been normalized. However, I will guarantee their authenticity as it is a standard medium of exchange that is practically impossible to counterfeit. If kept away from sulphur-bearing fumes, it will retain its pristine mint luster and will in time acquire a patina that will rival that of an old, precious and hirsute piece of Elephant tail money or the soft glamour of an olive green Aztec Hacha de Cobre. The space that the smaller denomination would occupy in a cabinet would not greatly exceed that taken by a roll of tobacco money or a fine specimen of halbert-head money. Furthermore, including postage it would not cost much more than an extra fine Columbus half dollar if purchased in Manila.

There is a great difference between a coin and a medal and one may collect either or both of them but there is a definite recognized dividing line between these two numismatic groups with the possible exception of a few silver medals which have been permitted to creep into coin lists by the addition of the magic adjective phrase "so called"—dollar." As a medal it can be sold for a couple of dollars but as a "so-called dollar" its price, if not its value, immediately soars to the skies. There can be no brief against the collecting of barter items as such. They are all rich in interest, both historically and ethnologically. Besides, the average individual will in many cases enjoy an exhibit of barter material far more than he would an exhibit of dated coins, but there should be a definite line of demarcation between things which rightfully belong to a museum of ethnology and those which are of numismatic value. Furthermore, articles of this kind when purchased from a dealer in scientific and anthropological specimens may be obtained at prices which are far below the prices which obtain when these articles have reached the dignity of being considered by a coin dealer as "odd money." The lure of the exotic may in the future pave the way for what we may consider an "odd money" racket that will be as harmful to ethnology as it would be to scientific numismatics.

To fully appreciate these most interesting and intriguing barter items one must have a background in anthropology and many are the pitfalls for those who enter this field without the information that is necessary in order to correctly evaluate them.

THE HUGHES AND FOSTER CARD OF CINCINNATI

By WALDO C. MOORE, Lewisburg, Ohio

(A paper read before the April, 1946 Meeting of the Cincinnati Numismatic Association.)

The metallic card issued by Hughes and Foster of Cincinnati is a most interesting and desirable addition to the store card series of Ohio. It is of excessive rarity and a much-sought piece by collectors of Ohio business cards as well as by collectors of Washington tokens.

The obverse reads HUGHES & FOSTER, CIN., in large letters within a circular depression.

The reverse shows an undraped bust of Washington, facing right.

The card token was struck in bronze also in tin, seven-eighths inch in diameter; the bronze being three-sixteenth of an inch thick and the tin five-sixteenths. The card in tin is undoubtedly extremely rare and the one in bronze should perhaps be placed in the unique column. A specimen in each metal is in the private collection of the writer.

The G. W. Hawes "Ohio State Gazetteer & Directory," for 1859 and 1860 lists Hughes & Foster as operating a flooring mill at the south-west corner of John and Augusta streets, with an office at 32 John street.

The Williams "Cincinnati Directory, City Guide and Business Mirror," for the years 1861, 1862, 1863 and 1864 lists the company as follows: HUGHES & FOSTER (Hudson E. Hughes and Joab G. Foster) Planing & Flooring Mill, Sash, Door and Blind Manufacturing, southwest corner John and Augusta. Hughes is listed as residing at 394 Longworth and Foster at 292 Water.

Charles Cist in his "Cincinnati in 1859," states that there were no less than twenty factories in the city manufacturing sash, blinds and doors, the larger share being hand operations. 410 men were employed.

The Hughes and Foster business token was unknown to the Levick, the Mason, the Betts and other old-time collections.

In the Tilton collection catalogue, page 22, lot 420, Woodward says of this card: "The die broke on the third impression." The card in the Tilton sale was catalogued in tin. Another specimen in tin sold in Ed. Frossard's coin sale in New York, January 9 and 10, 1891. Frossard said of this card: "Unknown to W. S. Baker, author of Medallie Portraits of Washington. Excessively rare if not unique." Assuming Woodward's statement to be true that only three were struck, two in tin having been published, the one in bronze must be considered unique.

Dr. B. P. Wright lists in bronze and numbers the Hughes and Foster business token 478 in his American Store or Business Cards as published in the June issue, 1898, of THE NUMISMATIST.

The Hughes and Foster card was unknown to Edgar H. Adams, author of "United States Cards," published in 1920.

The writer would be pleased to receive any further information relative to the Hughes and Foster business card of Cincinnati.

THE 1942 OVER 1941 DIME

How did it happen? More than a few collectors have asked that question many times and while attempts have been made to explain this unusual overdate, no logical solution has heretofore been given.

Dates on Dimes of 1941, 1942 over 1941, and 1942 Enlarged approximately 35 Times

Photographs by R. I. Nesmith, New York

The following letter from Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, Director of the Mint, explains in careful detail what actually happened. It would seem probable that the 1909 over 1908 double eagle; the Denver 1918 over 1917 nickel; and quarter dollar of the same mint and date came about in the same manner.

We are grateful to Mrs. Ross for her letter. While it treats of a minor detail we believe it a valuable contribution to American numismatics.—Editor.

Treasury Department
Washington 25, D. C.
June 7, 1946

Mr. Stuart Mosher, Editor
The Numismatist
95 Fifth Avenue
New York 3, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Mosher:

Your letter of recent date, addressed to the Superintendent of the Mint at Philadelphia, has been referred to this office for attention. You inquire regarding an "overdated" ten-cent piece, and enclosed a photograph thereof.

Since it appears that several like specimens have been found, it may be assumed that they were made from an imperfect die which, under the extreme pressure of war work and lack of experienced personnel, escaped detection.

The dime under consideration, with a date of 1942 over 1941, was not re-punched or re-engraved. In September of each year the engraving of the numeral in the new master die for the following year is started. From this master die a working "hub" is drawn. This is retouched if necessary, then hardened. This hub is used to fabricate all the working (coinage) dies for that year. Therefore, during the months of September, October, November and December the Engraving Department is working on dies for the current year's coinage and, at the same time, preparing those for the following year. Approximately one thousand dies, with new date, must be ready by January 1st of each year. During that period when utmost vigilance was required to keep the dies segregated by respective years, a die may have been given one blow with a 1941 hub and then, by some accident, finished with a 1942 hub.

All dies are usually inspected by a number of skilled workmen before they are delivered. Due to the heavy demands for coins, the Engraving Department had necessarily streamlined its operations and such an imperfect die apparently escaped detection.

Very truly yours,

—NELLIE TAYLOE ROSS
Director of the Mint

NUMISMATIC NEWS FROM THE NATION'S CAPITOL

By Edward L. Weikert, Jr., A. N. A. 5688

The Coinage Weights and Measures Committee met on July 2 to consider House Resolution 98 and its companion bill House Resolution 1281, which are the Will Rogers commemorative half-dollar bills. It was the committee's purpose at this time to consider two other bills, namely, House Resolution 2377. The admission of Iowa into the State of the Union and House Resolution 6528, the Booker T. Washington commemorative half-dollar bill.

At the opening of the committee meeting, the chairman said: "We are holding this hearing to consider the issuance of these memorial coins in honor of two great Americans and one of a great State, which will typify and exemplify men and events that could happen but in America."

House Resolution 98 introduced by Congressman Voorhees of California and House Resolution 128 introduced by Congressman Sligler of Oklahoma are identical bills to authorize the coinage of fifty cent pieces in commemoration of the memory of Will Rogers. Few men have contributed so much to straight thinking and tolerance in America. In pride of his Indian blood he once stated, "My ancestors didn't come over in the Mayflower, but they were there to meet the boat."

The Chairman received a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury dated June 21st, 1946 which read as follows:—

My dear Chairman: As you know, the Treasury Department has long been on record as opposed to the issuance of Commemorative coins. A multiplicity of designs of United States coins tend to create confusion, to increase the possibility of counterfeiting, and to encourage traffic in commemorative coins for private profit.

It has been the experience of the Department that the issuance of such coins is not consistent with the proper maintenance of our coinage system and detracts from the purpose for which money is issued, namely, as a medium of exchange.

Beginning in 1934 many bills were passed authorizing the striking of an unusually large number of such coins.

President Roosevelt, in his letters to your committee dated June 17, 1935 and January 21, 1937 deplored the abuse and other ills resulting from the coinage of commemorative coins and recommended the consideration of legislation which would authorize the striking of medals in lieu of coins.

No new commemorative coins have been authorized and since the enactment of the Act of August 5, 1939 which prohibited the coinage or issuance of commemorative coins authorized prior to March 1, 1939.

As a result of past experiences and for the reason set forth above, this Department believes it would be undesirable to again authorize the issuance of commemorative coins, even for the worthy purpose contemplated by these bills. However, the Mint would be glad to strike medals, if appropriate legislation is secured, which would commemorate the event mentioned and which could be sold at a premium to raise funds in the same manner as the coins suggested by the proposed bills.

The Department has been advised by the Bureau of the Budget that there is no objection to the submission of this report to your commission, signed by E. H. Fooley, Jr., Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

Present at this meeting were four witnesses who were heard at considerable length and were questioned by members of the committee on the Booker T. Washington Commemorative coin. S. J. Phillips and Dr. Emmett J. Scott, President and Secretary respectively of the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial, Inc., of Rocky Mountain, Virginia, and Mrs. Portia Washington Pittman, only surviving child of Booker T. Washington and Booker T. Washington, III, Trustee of the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial, Inc.

S. J. Phillips outlined his plan for the distribution of the five million Booker T. Washington commemorative fifty cent pieces, and impressed the members of the committee on the fact that not more than a fifty-cent profit would be realized on each fifty cent piece.

Another meeting of the committee is scheduled for a later date in July for further discussion of these three commemorative bills at which time there is a possibility of all three bills being reported out of the committee and sent to the House for further action by the House of Representatives.

OBITUARY*GEORGE A. PIPES, A. N. A. No. 2369

On June 3rd, George A. Pipes of Portland, Oregon died following a heart attack. He was 64 years of age. He is survived by his wife and son and daughter.

He was born October 21, 1881 at Independence, Oregon and moved to Portland in 1892 where he remained for the rest of his life excepting for a few years spent at Eugene. He studied law in the office of his father, a former Justice of the Oregon State Supreme Court, and was admitted to the bar in 1903. He engaged in practice of the legal profession with his father and brother. He served as deputy district attorney for Multnomah County from 1931 to 1935 and then with the legal department of Bonneville Administration and U. S. Engineers. He resumed practice in the last several years.

George became interested in the hobby of numismatics in 1900. His painstaking study of coins and their history over a period of years made him a recognized authority, especially those of ancient Greece, Rome, early Britain and the many Germanic state issues, which he collected. He especially loved the historical issues.

He joined the A. N. A. in May, 1922 and soon began contributing articles to THE NUMISMATIST. One of his first important papers was "The Story of the Beaver Coins of Oregon." As a result of the interest and prominence given this article, George became a regular contributor of leading articles. One of his last papers was "The Numismatics of Shakespeare," which appeared in November, 1945. He wrote many short poems and quiz programs.

His personal collection was made up of medals, satirical issues and ancient coins. He had a "nose" for coins; he discovered one of the rare Oregon Beaver $10 gold pieces and several of the North West Company tokens used by the fur traders and Indians in the Old Oregon Country. His only regret was that he could not save these for his own collection.

In September, 1929, he organized the Oregon Coin Club which held informal meetings for two years, and later in September, 1936, he was one of the organizers of the Oregon Numismatic Society, which held their first meetings in his office. He served as Vice President of the O. N. S. in 1936-37-38, as President in 1942 and as Curator for many years. He was the mainstay of the Club in that he was continually being called upon for an address, a forum, a quiz program or just a discourse on the spur of the moment. He had the unusual ability to deliver an interesting talk along numismatic lines; these talks during the war were especially interesting as the Allies progressed about ancient Carthage, or landed in Taranto or Sicily, an English town was bombed, or the Germans pushed out of Aachen, George was sure to make the most of the occasion by an appropriate story and coin.

George was a very modest and unassuming man. He helped many of the junior collectors. He was always ready to identify a coin and read or explain the inscriptions thereon. He would not take the glory of his many prepared numismatic papers at club meetings but let these be presented by other members.

His untimely death is an irreparable loss to the entire numismatic fraternity and one that will be keenly felt by those who were privileged to know him. He was a friend among friends.

SUTLERS AND THEIR TOKENS: 1861-1866

(The Rebellion Tokens of the United States)

By JAMES J. CURTO, Grosse Pointe, Michigan

FOREWORD

For some unknown reason, the collecting of Sutler Tokens has long been ignored by collectors of numismatics. That little enthusiasm is attributed to this interesting series is readily manifested by their absence from the present day auction catalogues, fixed price lists and advertisements.

Many collectors, acquiring a specimen or so of these tokens or checks, do not recognize what they are nor know the real meaning of the word "Sutler." So little has ever been written of them and so little publicity given to them, that it is of no small wonder that this condition exists.

This article, therefore, not intended to be extremely technical, is but to serve chiefly as an introductory excursus relating to Sutlers and Sutler Tokens with the hope that it will provide the nucleus for some collector to do a more extended research of numismatics along this line, and also to reawaken interest in this series of tokens which played so important a part during the most critical days of our United States history.

DEFINITION AND DERIVATION

Sutler—A sutler was one who followed an army or who lived in a garrison town or camp and sold provisions to the troops—, a small vendor or trader—, a victualler—, a soldier's benefactor and friend-in-need during the long, dull monotonous days in camp, a soldier's nemesis on pay days—, a sutler in the army.

The word "sutler" is a derivative form of the early modern Dutch "Socteler" or "Zoetelaar." Other spellings which sometimes appear are subtler, shuttler, sutteler, and suttler.

* In the British Service, the Sutler is a vendor of provisions allowed by the Quartermaster General to follow an army in the field for the purpose of supplying the soldiers with such luxuries as they can afford to purchase. Sutlers are under martial law, accompany the baggage on the march, and are narrowly watched and severely punished if found guilty of any irregularities toward either the soldiers or inhabitants of the country.

* In the French army, a soldier in each regiment is licensed to act as a sutler and is called a vivandier.

EARLY HISTORY

That the term "Sutler" was in use for some centuries in its present meaning is easily verified, for we find it mentioned as early as 1588 in a quotation from the play "Henry V," written by our old friend William Shakespeare,—"I shall Sutler be unto the Campe and profits will accrue."

Again, from the "Ordonances & Instr. Musters" an English army manual dated December 31, 1590, we quote the following:

(*From Farrows Military Encyclopedia)

"The Provost Mareschal and Sergeant Major of every garrison shall keepe a perfect rolle of all such English Victuallers, (Called in dutch, Sutlers) petimarchant . . . and other loose persons of the English nation."

Numerous other passages and quotations might be listed to prove that sutlers and sutlering were an integral part of every and all army life from that period forward.

However, since we are primarily interested in sutlers as a part of our own history, we will continue with a few more references and a brief history, to establish the sutler as a very real part of the United States Army previous to 1861.

The following excerpt is taken from a letter, John Kirkpatrick to Washington, dated Alexandria, 17 Septem. 1757. (From Letters To Washington Vol. 11 1756-1758)

"The Scheme you kindly hint of Suttling—and from which, as you observe, (Under proper conduct) Advantage might arrise—is foreclosed. Mr. Ramsay returned about Four days ago from Williamsburg having Contracted to Victuall the Forces of Your Regiment Stationed in Frederick & Hampshire Countys—at what rate, I know not—but in Conjunction with Carlyle and Dalton—and with resolutions to pursue the plan of Suttlers, Retailers, Commissary, and what not, for the Compleat and proper Accomodating your Regement in every Requisite whatsoever—This much I had learn'd, was their intentions, before I had the pleasure of receiving your Affectionate Address—and was pleased with the Approaching prospects of the Commodious & Satisfactory entertainment so necessary & desirable amongst Your troops.

Inclosed is Mr. Johnstons' . . ."

JNO. KIRKPATRICK

1775 R. Montgomery in Sparks Corr. Am. Rev. (1853) I 498;
"If they can send down to the army such articles as soldiers choose to lay out their money upon, employing sutlers for that purpose."

1776 Jrnls Continental Congress IV 113;
"General Schyler (Shall) be desired to encourage sutlers to attend the army in Canada."

1844 Regul. & Ord. Army 267;
"No huts to be allowed in front of, or between the intervals of the Battalions, their proper situation is in the rear of the line of petty sutlers."

In 1829, an Army General Order required Sutlers to reside at or near the post where they did business and forbade the practice of sub-letting contracts, and even required that they secure permission to leave the vicinity of the post. This necessitated the Sutler's relying on the nearest city of size for supplies which most often meant not buying at the lowest prices.

Up to 1839, the sutler received his appointment through the Secretary of War.

Ex-army officers with long army records found little difficulty in obtaining these appointments but outside of such situations, appointments went only to those with political backing or support. Under these conditions, it was not unusual for a Sutler's tenure to be of short duration.

In 1839, the Democrats, then in office, were in danger of losing the forthcoming election to the Whigs, and chose to end the political method of choice by vesting the nomination of sutlers to the council of administration at the various Forts, the commanding officer being required to transmit the record of the Post's choice to the Secretary of War for ratification. Sutlers chosen under this new system were appointed for three years and were eligible for reappointment if they proved satisfactory.

The Whigs however, slowly and cleverly disregarded this move and by 1843 the old system was back in force for a time.

Previous to 1830, whiskey was included in the government rations to the troops and Sutlers were allowed to sell it openly and without restrictions. It was one of their chief money making items of sale.

But an order in that year, resulting from reports of officers and doctors that ardent spirits had bad effects on the health, morals and discipline of enlisted troops, forbade the sutler, in the future, from selling more than two gills of liquor to any soldier in one day and then only on written permission of the Commanding Officer.

Orders varying in this respect followed, until its sale was prohibited entirely.

In the 40's, the War Department gave the post councils the privilege of determining the type of goods to be carried by the sutler, to insure the troops the things they wanted, and still later, they added the right to set maximum prices on articles on sale, probably our first venture into fixing ceiling prices.

This brings us to the crucial days of 1861, when the army within a relatively short period of time had to double and redouble its personnel to ready itself for the momentous struggle to preserve the Union.

At this time, the Regulations for the Army of the United States (1861) had the following in regards to Sutlers (Article XXV) :

"Every military post may have one Sutler, to be appointed by the Secretary of War on the recommendation of the Council of Administration, approved by the commanding officer.

A Sutler shall hold his office for a term of three years, unless sooner removed; but the commanding officer may, for cause, suspend a Sutler's privilege until a decision of the War Department is received in the case.

In case of vacancy, a temporary appointment may be made by the commanding officer upon the nomination of the Council of Administration.

Troops in campaign, on detachment, or on distant service, will be allowed Sutlers, at the rate of one for every regiment, corps, or separate detachment; to be appointed by the commanding officer of such regiment, corps, or detachment, upon the recommendation of the council of administration, subject to the approval of the general or officer in command.

No tax or burden in any shape, other than the authorized assessment for the post fund, will be imposed on the Sutler. If there be a spare building, the use of it may be allowed him, he being responsible that it is kept in repair. If there be no such building, he may be allowed to erect one; but this article gives the Sutler no claim to quarters, transportation for himself or goods, or to any military allowance whatever.

The tariff of prices fixed by the Council of Administration shall be exposed in a conspicuous place in the Sutler's store. No difference of prices will be allowed on cash or credit sales.

Sutlers are not allowed to keep ardent spirits or other intoxicating drinks, under penalty of losing their situations.

Sutlers shall not farm out or underlet the business and privileges granted by their appointment."

THE NEED OF SUTLERS

The merchant sutler during this period, really came into his own. His need became of paramount importance for with the army constantly on the move, camping at isolated locations, considerable distances from any town or city, roads and transportation poor, the soldier tired and weary, his fare becoming more meager and his wants ever increasing, the sutler's camp was the one spot where money could be spent and there it usually was.

A considerable portion of the packages sent from home to relieve the soldier's fare was lost in transit and articles delivered by the express company and private individuals, often were in bad shape when they arrived.

In acknowledging receipt of supplies, soldiers mentioned shattered jars, broken eggs, rancid butter and strong meat. And sometimes, when a box of provisions escaped all hazards to reach camp in good condition, it was spoiled by lying on the shelf until a period of active campaigning was over.

The thousand luxuries of life were unattainable unless it were the duty of someone to minister them.

Even when stationed in large cities, the soldier was often unable to obtain what he required, being paid only at long intervals of time, unless some peculiar arrangement was made in his behalf.

Thus, the most productive expedient to supplement the items of government issue was to purchase supplies in camp or its environs, from sutlers and peddlers. So, many new sutlers made their appearance early in the war. An observer, as early as December 1861 states, that "The sutlers kept a great many luxuries which we could buy at reasonable prices." (The Life of Johnny Reb by Wiley). This statement, however, does not correspond with the reputation generally held by camp vendors. A newspaperman attached to Joseph E. Johnson's Command by the Richmond Daily Dispatch, also said in December 1861 that "sutlers made profits of several hundred percent on their transactions. Excessive charges for ginger cakes, half moon pies, dried fruits and other stock items, were a source of chronic irritation to officers, and sometimes soldiers became so infuriated that they ran the Shylocks out of camp minus their provisions."

While the Union Sutlers grew in numbers and wealth as the war progressed, the lot or plight of the Confederate Sutler became more and more desperate, his prices increasing with the depreciation of Confederate currency, to a level beyond the reach of the ordinary soldier.

For instance, from a letter of William R. Stillwill to his wife, April 11, 1863 (Man. Georgia Archives)—"After paying a camp sutler 3 dollars for a quire of paper and 3 dollars for a bunch of envelopes, how do you think a soldier can save much money at 11 dollars per month?" And in midsummer 1864, S. W. Farrow, in a letter to his wife, June 2, 1864 (Manu. Un. of Tex.) bemoaned, "Unless paper becomes more plentiful I shall have to quit writing, it is worth a dollar a sheet."

SUTLER'S CAMP, FIRST BRIGADE HORSE ARTILLERY

Sutler's Camp, First Brigade Horse Artillery

John Crittenden wrote to his wife, July 15, 1864 (The Life of Johnny the Reb), "Bettie, I have not been able to get ink to write with yet. A Sutler here has small ink bottles that hold about three thimbles full. These he asks 3 dollars for. Could you fix me up some and send it to me?"

While in the Confederacy Sutlers were needed and used to advantage in prison camps for the conversion of Confederate currency for U. S.

treasury notes to be used by spies, and for the relief of their own men in Northern prison camps, the Union used them equally effectively in prisons and prison camps to arrest the traffic between prisoners and guards and to promote prison welfare, interest and health. Prisoners who had money would buy things they wished for or could get, and it was immaterial to them from whom they bought. This led to compromising situations, which often involved guards and culminated in court martial and scandal.

With a sutler in attendance, guided by the rules and regulations of the prison commandant and with relatively free access to the prison, he became the solution to many of the problems of the prison as well as of the prisoners.

Some of these points are well illustrated in the following orders taken from the official records of the Union and Confederate Armies in the War of the Rebellion (Vol. VIII) as follows:

General Orders
No. 3

Hdqrs. C. S. Military Prison
East of Mississippi River
Columbia, S. C. Feb. 7, 1865

Sutlers at the various prison camps are the only persons authorized to trade with the prisoners. The commanding officer at the various prisons will grant them the permission to purchase U. S. Treasury notes from the prisoners for the use of the government at the rates to be established by the Quartermaster-General which until further orders will be $5 in C. S. notes for $1 in U. S. Treasury notes. All trafficking and trading by unauthorized persons must be stopped. Commanding officers will use stringent measures to prevent it and all persons so offending connected with the post will be placed under arrest and brought before a court-martial.

Others will be turned over to the Civil authorities for trial.

THE MERCHANT SUTLER

The sutler as we have seen, received his appointment from the service. This was a mere privilege without rank or pay or emolument other than that derived from the profits of his business.

It was his duty to keep on hand all goods required by the soldiers and such miscellaneous articles as he might be asked for. These included such items as soap, tobacco, candy, cheese, pipes, fruit, trinkets, newspapers, magazines, army insigne and polishes etc.

A sutler was attached to every regiment but sometimes the number increased so that there was one to every two or more companies of troops. The sutler was the only person permitted to sell to the troops to which he was respectively attached. This amounted to a monopoly and without proper supervision would have exposed the sutler to great temptation and the soldiers to much exploitation. To avoid this, the following course was adopted. When an invoice of goods was received at a post, the commanding officer ordered his three officers next in line to himself, to convene as a post council or a council of administration, to examine the articles and affix to each a reasonable price. This council, besides regulating his prices and determining what he could carry in stock, sometimes decreed that a small part of his profits be allotted to the post fund for social activities or the like. In return, he received army protection for his supply trains and help in collecting his bills from the soldiers. Even with this check, the sutler realized large profits and more than one fortune has been amassed within a very short time.

Thus, while the sutler had ample opportunities to make money, being the sole agent in supplying from 300 to 1000 men with provisions, other factors were involved whereby, unless he was shrewd and diplomatic, he could also be easily ruined.

His was a thankless and friendless job. His hand although raised against no one, had every hand raised against himself. If he refused credit, he was called "Shylock" and cursed. If he gave credit he was again cursed on payday and sometimes had a job collecting, the soldier securing the credit just before moving on or being transferred. If he sold whiskey, he took the chance of losing his shrewdness and of being looted by drunken soldiers of his own making, and being cursed some more when they became sober. If he refused to sell it, was also cursed, and what's more, some one else would! If he didn't have articles wanted, was criticized and if he did, was too high in price, a robber, etc. While his prices were much higher than market, he was there primarily to make money and had to overcome losses accumulated from:

1. Goods lost to guerrillas
2. Goods lost in camp raids
3. Unpaid accounts of men transferred
4. Unpaid accounts of men lost in battle

So although sutlers were frequently complained of as exorbitant and unreasonable, it was the opinion of the majority of those who served, that they were "more sinned against than sinning" and that there were many good sutlers who did a very fine job.

His business establishment compared favorably with the log cabin general stores of the smaller towns and his stock of goods sometimes exceeded in value that of ordinary western stores, which rough estimates, based on census figures of 1840, placed at $6000 to $7000. In comparison, sutler John Cleves Symmes bought $9000 worth of merchandise when he started business at Cantonment Davis in 1815.

O'Fallon became sutler at Council Bluffs in September 1821 and by May of the following year, only eight months later, had done $6000 worth of business.

It was true that the sutler generally entered business without the preliminary training which regular merchants of this period acquired through long years of apprenticeship and hard work, and who finally acquired ownership of a small store through perseverance and careful savings from meager salaries. Nevertheless, it was also true that he escaped some of the problems of the regular merchant, not having to carry on a barter system to dispose of merchandise, nor being required to carry such a diversified and extensive stock. He also always sold to a group that bought readily and spent money freely on the more expensive merchandise which he stocked, since his store was the only place where their pay checks did them any good.

That the sutlers were subject to capture by the enemy and rated high as personnel in the exchange of prisoners, is readily seen from the following communique from the official "Records of the War of the Rebellion" Vol. VII:

Office Commissary-General of Prisoners
Washington, D. C. Oct. 27, 1864

Maj. Gen. B. F. Butler,

Commissioner for Exchange of Prisoners, Fort Monroe, Va. General: Joseph A. Doane, sutler of the Sixteenth Connecticut, has been paroled by the rebel authorities at Charlestown to the 10th of Dec. 1864, on condition that he obtain the exchange for himself of John Kenipick, purser of the rebel steamer Calypso but this exchange is not approved by the Sec. of the Navy, and it is therefore proposed to substitute in his place Mr. John L. McLean, a sutler in the rebel army, now in confinement at Camp Morton, and by direction of the Secretary of War he has been paroled, with the condition that he proceed directly to Richmond, via Fort Monroe, and procure himself to be accepted in exchange for Mr. Doane. If he is accepted in exchange for Mr. Doane—he will request Mr. Ould to inform you of the fact, but failing to make the exchange he will return to Fort Monroe and surrender himself as a prisoner of war on or before the 16th of Dec. 1864. Mr. McLean will report to you on his arrival at Fort Monroe, to be forwarded by flag of truce boat.

I am, General, very respectfully, your obedient servant

W. HOFFMAN

Colonel Third Infantry and Commissary General of Prisoners.

THE SUTLER ON PAY DAY

(From F. Robinson's "Army of the United States.")

On the last day of February and then on the last day of every alternate month—the men are paraded in full dress for inspection. The commander of the company then calls the names of the men from a roll previously prepared, checking each one as present—absent—ill, etc. A copy of this completed roll is sent to the hdqts. of the army—after being carefully checked by the commandant of the company and another is kept in camp.

When the paymaster arrives at the post with his clerks, he computes the pay due every enlisted man according to this roll, on which are recorded the monthly pay and all stoppages by sentence of court martial from broken equipment, extra issues of clothing, etc., and setting down the amount in a separate column, notifies the commanding officer when he is ready to pay the troops of his camp or garrison.

The men are then marched to the spot where the payment is to be made. There they find their captain and usually the other officers of their company or troop and together with them, the Sutler.

The paymaster having seated himself at the head of the table, the commander of the troop or squadron places himself on his right, while the sutler, with his books, occupies the left hand. The men are then called in according to their rank, if non-commissioned officers, and alphabetically if privates. The amount of pay due each is stated by the captain from one roll, compared with the calculations of the paymaster from the other. By the regulations of the army, the sutler is prohibited from crediting any man beyond the half of his monthly pay, or, if he does so, it is at his own risk. The sutler's bill, if within these limits, is paid and the rest of the money handed over to the soldier who forthwith signs a receipt in full to the United States, up to the date of the roll on which he is paid.

The pay range during this period was from that of major general $200 a month—to that of private at $7 a month. A colonel received $90, a captain $40, a second lieutenant $25, a sergeant $13, corporal $9, and a musician $8.

IT MIGHT HAVE HAPPENED

What might have happened, had the following recorded events occurred in chronological order, could easily have been an episode in the career of any one of the sutlers.

(From the "Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies in the War of the Rebellion" Vol. XI):

Headquarters Army of the Potomac
July 8, 1864—12 m

Lieutenant Gen. Grant:

The order sending sutlers to the rear as issued by me before crossing the Rapidan, has never been recinded. The objection to permitting them to come to the front is the necessity either of allowing them the use of Government wagons to bring their goods from City Point, or else permitting them to bring their own wagons, thus increasing the animals to be fed and the number of wagons using the roads, some three or four hundred. Another objection is the uncertainty of our position and the difficulty of getting rid of them in the event of a sudden movement.

Situated as I am I neither feel that I have the full authority to act in this matter, nor the proper information to enable me to act advisedly without a reference to you. I would therefore be glad to have your idea upon this point. There are many articles only to be procured from the sutlers, which are necessary to the men's comfort and which they are now in want of, and I think it would be well to let the Sutlers come up, if it is practicable.

GEORGE G. MEADE
Major General

Major General Meade
Commanding, etc.

City Point Va. July 8, 1864

You are authorized to use your own judgment about allowing sutlers with the army, and the manner of getting their goods to the front.

From an entry in a Tennessean's diary following the battle of Seven Pines. (The Life of Johnny Reb by Wily)

"I awoke quite early yesterday morning and everything seemed very quiet, I went over the field seeing what I could see. Here were Sutler's tents, filled with luxuries, oranges, lemons, oysters, pineapples, sardines, in fact, almost everything that I could think of. My first business was to eat just as much as I possibly could, and that was no small amount, for I had been living on hard tack several days. I then picked out a lot of stationery, paper, envelopes, ink, pens and enough to fill one haversack, then I found a lot of puff bosomed linen shirts, and laid in a half dozen together with some white gloves and other little extras enough to fill another haversack. Then I filled another with nuts and candies and still another with cheese. With this load, I wandered around picking up some canteens to carry back to the boys. Then adding to my load such articles as a sword, and overcoat, etc.—I quickened my pace and before I had gone twenty steps, the Yankees opened fire—and the balls whistled around me in a perfect shower. I had about 200 yards to go before reaching my regiment, and by the time I reached it, I had thrown away all my plunder.”

VARYING REGULATIONS

The great expansion in the size of the army of 1861, together with its deployment and movements, made necessary immediately a great demand for the services of the sutler and changes in their regulation were many and varied to fit the ever changing situations. Following are a few of the general orders issued in this respect:

As previously stated in the Regulations of 1861, relating to Sutlers, the selling of liquor was strictly forbidden. In this General Order, we find this altered to allow them to act as agents for officers in the procurement of liquors etc. (From “Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies in the War of the Rebellion”)

Circular . . . Hdqts Army of the Potomac
Office of Provost Marshall General
Camp near Rectortown, Va. Nov. 7, 1862

The following “regulations to govern trade” having been approved by the Major General commanding this army are published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

No sutler or trader will be allowed to keep or sell within the lines of this army, any wines, liquors or intoxicating drinks of any kind whatever, nor will these articles be passed within the lines, excepting when ordered by an officer for his own use, with the approval of his brigade or division commander and having his own name marked on the package, the sutler or trader in such cases acting merely as an agent in procuring these stores for the officer named.

The Provost Marshall of corps and divisions are charged with carrying these regulations into effect and will promptly report to this office every arrest and seizure made under these orders.

By order of Brigadier General
PATRICK J. P. KIMBALL
Assistant Adjutant General.

This privilege was abused to such an extent, that officers were tersely warned in a Special Order in Aug. 1863 by command of Major General Meade, which threatened to withdraw the privilege.

General Order
#79

Hdqts Army of the Potomac
Aug. 20, 1863

The following rules approved by the Sec. of War will govern the introduction of Sutler goods into this Army:

1. A regiment of cavalry will leave Warrington Junction on Thursday of each week at 9 A. M. for Washington or its vicinity to return on the following Monday at the same hour for the purpose of protecting such sutler's goods as may be rightfully brought to this army.

2. Any sutler desiring to avail himself of the privileges herein afforded will furnish the provost marshal-general with an invoice of the goods he wishes to procure and the number of wagons necessary to transport them. Said invoice, if in accordance with regulations, and if approved by said officer, shall when presented to the C O of said escort, be sufficient authority for said sutler to join the train with the number of wagons specified. On arriving at the point of destination, the same invoice shall be submitted to the Quartermaster General of the Army for permission to load and remove the goods entered therein, from the city and with such permission shall entitle the owner to the protection of the escort on his return.

3. Sutler's agents will be permitted to represent their employers on presenting their certificates of office, accompanied by written evidence of agency. No certificate will hereafter be issued except the sutler elected under the law be a citizen of the U. S.

4. On and after the publication of this order, should any sutler attempt to transport property to Washington or goods from Washington to this army, in any other mode than is herein prescribed, said property and goods shall be seized and held subject to confiscation.

5. Due notice will be given of any change in the time or place of departure of the escort both of which must depend upon the movements of the army.

6. The commander of the Cavalry Corps will from time to time furnish the cavalry escort herein provided for.

BY COMMAND OF MAJ. GEN. MEADE
Ass't Adj. General

Various other orders could be quoted but these should suffice to give a converging picture of the overall situation as was existent of the period.

THE END OF SUTLERSHIP

The end of the Sutler era in the U. S. Army started during the end of the Civil War probably because many of the appointments to the position were being made through political sources, and the type and character of the Sutler took a decided change for the worse. Exploitation of the soldier seemed to be their chief aim. It was the sutler of this tenure who brought so much disrepute to the profession, and whom so many soldiers condemn in their diaries and accounts of Civil War Army Life.

The depths to which their reputation deteriorated is clearly depicted in an official report by General Grant during his march from Brunsburg to Vicksburg. (From "The American Army in the War of Secession," by General DeChanal.)

"Sutlers: In this connection, I would respectfully call your attention to the present system of army sutlers. There is no article legitimately supplied by sutlers to officers and soldiers, which could not be furnished at a much less price by Quartermaster and Commissary Departments. Sutlers and their employes are now only partially subject to military authority and discipline, and it is not difficult for those who are so disposed to act the part of spies, informers, smugglers and contraband traders.

The entire abolition of the system would rid the army of the encumbrance of sutlers' wagons on the march, and the nuisance of sutlers' stalls and booths in camp. It would relieve officers and soldiers of much of their personal expenses, and improve the discipline and efficiency of the troops in many ways, and particularly by removing from the camps, the profligate evil of drunkenness."

* * *

Another factor which also tended to their end, was the organization of Soldiers' Relief Societies and Clubs by groups of women all over the country, who recognized their need and established what probably was the foundations of our present U. S. O. canteens.

The appointment of Civilian Concessionaires or sutlers was abolished by Congress in 1866 but reinstated ten years later as Post Traders for operation of Post Exchanges.

In some of the posts, officers established non-profit Canteens for themselves and extended the privilege to enlisted men in 1889. These became so successful as non-profit stores, that Post Traders were abolished by Congress in 1893 and the Canteen form of Post Exchange commenced.

SUTLER TOKENS

Token—A token is a piece of paper or metal intended for currency and issued at a face value in excess of its real value. Therefore any exchange piece issued without federal guarantee or authority may be considered a Token.

While there were some tokens issued by sutlers and traders at Forts and isolated Western Posts previous to and following the Civil War period, the list which follows concerns those more definitely considered as serving during the War of the Rebellion and which we are to classify as "The Rebellion Tokens."

Many of the sutlers of this era, had tokens, of metal or script issued to insure themselves of the trade of soldiers to whom they extended credit. This credit was usually given after the soldier signed a release or order on his pay check, which the sutler presented to the paymaster on paydays and which was at that time deducted from the soldier's pay and given to the sutler.

But another and probably more valid reason for their issuance was that the soldiers were generally paid by the paymaster in gold and silver and in the least number of coins possible, resulting in a scarcity of small change. Small change was scarce in villages, towns and cities and rare in soldiers' encampments.

This scarcity of small change was prevalent all over the country and is given as the basic reason for the introduction of fractional currency, both federal and private as well as for the thousands of so-called civil war tokens or copperheads.

The soldier could however, exchange part of his pay money for sutler tokens or script of small denomination. As these were readily accepted by other soldiers and allowed him to spend his money piecemeal as he pleased, it made no appreciable difference to him.

While the script issued in this respect was usually both colorful and beautifully designed, the metal tokens were, with few exceptions, entirely lacking in beauty of design and execution.

The majority of these pieces were struck on very thin planchets and had for the most part a uniformity of the reverse.

The reverses in these cases were either blank or with only the seal of the die cutter in small design and low and faint relief.

A great number of these tokens were made by John Stanton of Cincinnati and many of the others by Spencer Murdock also of Cincinnati, Childs & Co. of Chicago, and Koehler of Baltimore.

Those made by Koehler and Childs were made on thick planchets and were in all respects, size, thickness and dies, similar to the civil war tokens so well known to collectors.

The metal used most often in the planchets of this series was brass. However, copper, lead, white metal, German silver, nickel and bronze were also used and many of these pieces, as is common of tokens of this period, can be secured in several of these metals.

Except in the case of a few southern firms (often mentioned as sutlers and therefore listed) which issued tokens from 10c to $5, the denominations of the tokens ranged from 5c to $1.00, scrip from 2c to $2, with no 1c pieces being issued. The Sutler evidently had no article on his shelves at this low price.

The interest in these tokens is intensely and vitally historical and the tokens fall in the same category as the siege or Necessity pieces of Europe and should be classified as the Rebellion Tokens of the United States.

In an interesting article on Sutler Checks written and published by Edward Frossard in the Numisma, July 1880, it is inferred that these tokens were confined mostly to armies operating in the West. He served in the Army of the Potomac and, not ever seeing them in use there, concludes that it was probable that all those bearing the names of Eastern Military Organizations were issued while the regiments were temporarily attached to Western Armies.

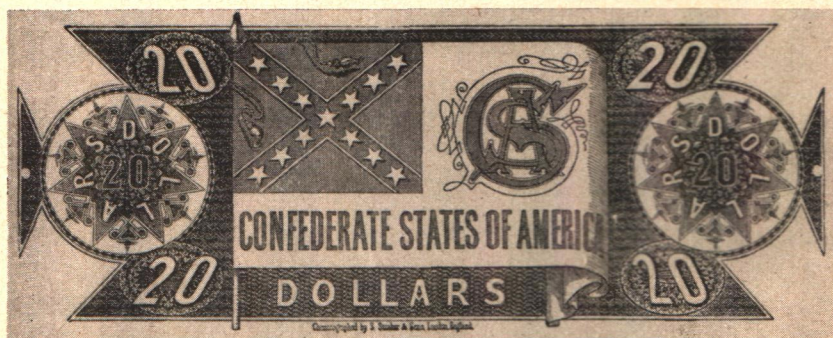

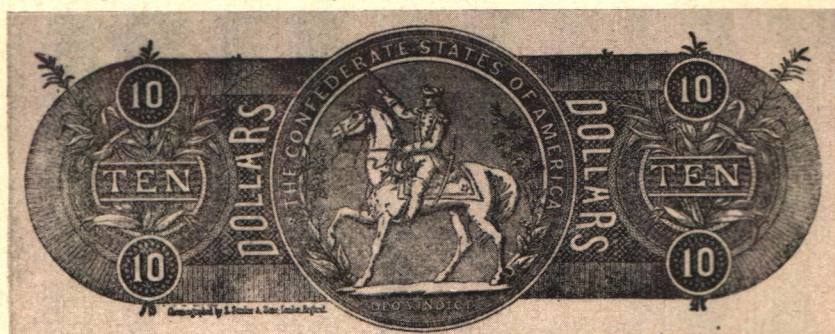

However, wherever they were used, the honor and memory of the brave men they served should place them high in the esteem of every American Numismatic Collector, and certainly even a few pieces would grace and add greatly to the interest of any collection.

(To be concluded with a List of Sutlers Tokens and Scrip.)

CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA PAPER MONEY: CLASSIFICATION AND LISTING

PART XVII

The Chemicograph Backs

The treatment of Confederate States of America paper money would be incomplete without mention of the Chemicograph backs. The story is a short one as many details are lacking.

According to H. D. Allen,* in 1864, late in the War, the firm of S. Straker & Sons, of London, England, was engaged to prepare plates of new designs to be used for printing the backs of a proposed new series of Treasury notes, using a process of engraving by chemical action, invented in Denmark in 1843.

Apparently the design is engraved or etched on a polished plate of zinc, the incised lines or depressions filled with a melted metal (probably lead) which is then reduced to the exact level of the zinc, so that the design appears as if inlaid. An acid is applied to the surface, and dissolves the zinc, thus leaving the inlaid metal in relief. This relief plate, if in soft metal such as lead, would not stand up as a printing plate, so it is probable that the requisite number of fairly good printing plates were provided by making either papier-maché matrices from the relief plate for stereotypes, or wax matrices for electrotypes.

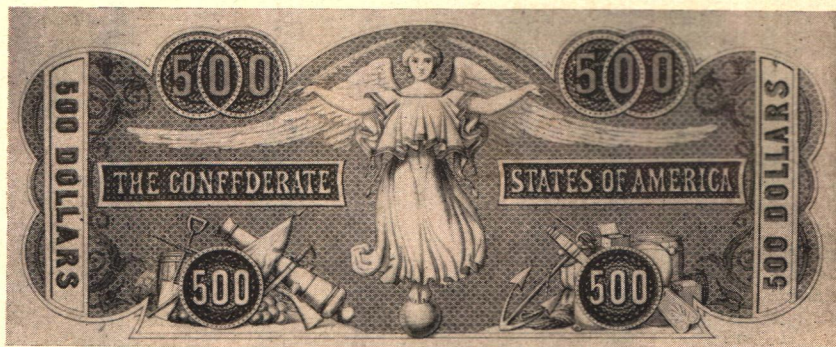

According to the story, some or all of the plates were seized by the Northern authorities on a ship captured while attempting to run the blockade of the Southern States. From plates which escaped destruction, impressions have been struck off from time to time. They occur in black, red, and yellow-green. These probably are the work of Northerners and were all unauthorized unless some impressions made in England, or some of the plates, passed through the blockade and reached the Confederate authorities.

Until recently the known chemicograph back denominations were $5, $10, $20 and $50, although the existence of the $100 and $500 denominations has long been suspected. The author has recently had positive proof of the existence of plates of these two high values. Through the courtesy of the Yale University Library † the $100 and $500 designs are now published, it is believed for the first time, together with the $5, $10, $20 and $50 designs, approximately two-thirds actual size.

* THE NUMISMATIST, Volume XXXII, page 55 (February, 1919).

† The designs of the $100 and $500 values are shown in prints mounted in a specially bound volume "Illustrated Catalogue of Confederate Treasury Notes With Descriptive Letter-Press" (403 pages), compiled about 1880 by Raphael P. Thian, which also contains specimens of the types and many varieties of Confederate Treasury notes. However, these prints of the $100 and $500 Chemicograph designs lack the imprint "Chemicographed by S. Straker & Sons, London, England" which appears on impressions from plates of the lower values and the known plates of the $100 and $500 values.

Chemicograph Backs

The designs and workmanship are distinctly inferior,—not surprising under the rapidly deteriorating fortunes of the Confederacy so near its collapse.

There are also different designs of $5 and $10 denomination backs, with a large "FIVE" or "TEN" respectively, in white outline on a dotted or dashed background. These appear to have been printed from plates of the same type as the known Chemicograph backs, but it is not proven that they were produced by S. Straker & Sons.

NOTES AND QUERIES

Has Only Known "Earring Cent"

Dear Sir:

Inasmuch as you pose as an expert perhaps you would care to tell me why "The Standard Catalogue of U. S. Coins" does not list many of the coins I have in my collection! I am writing to the publisher. I have the only known copy of the "Earring Lincoln penny! (Cent—Editor.) I wrote you twice about it and you have never published it. All parts of numismatics should be investigated and if you still refuse to recognize my discovery I will let someone else do it.

The penny (Cent—Editor) in question shows a distinct earring hanging from Lincoln's right ear. And it looks like an antique earring of that period. Do you suppose that some Southerner working in the Mint put it on? It is dated 1919.

Numismatically yours,

—CLIFFORD WEATHERBY,
Boston, Mass.

Answer: Thanks a lot for the privilege of publishing your discovery. The publisher of "The Standard Catalogue" does not attempt to list all minor varieties. As far as we know this particular cent has not been mentioned before, and we have no idea if "Some Southerner put it on," or if it is just an ordinary defective coin.

We are glad to publish your letter Cliff, but want you to understand that the editor does not pose as an expert on "earring" cents.

The Waitangi Crown of 1935

One of the most underrated silver dollar size coins of the 20th Century is the handsome crown put out by New Zealand in 1935 to commemorate the Treaty of Waitangi.

According to the Royal Mint Report, 1935-1936, only 679 separate crowns and 364 in specimen sets were issued, a total of 1128 pieces. The ones we have seen are all in proof condition. Fortunate indeed is the collector who has a specimen for they rarely appear on the market today.

Heraldic Error in May Issue

Dear Editor:

In my article "American Heraldry," which appeared in the May issue, there is an error which I would like to correct. The arms of Connecticut do not, as I stated, display "Three apple trees," et cetera, but rather "Three grape vines, two and one, proper."

My error was a curious one and I have no excuse whatsoever for making it. I thank those who took the trouble to remind me of it and I apologize to the state of Connecticut, which adopted this device in 1663.

Very truly yours,

DUDLEY BUTLER,
New York City

The Decimal Coinage of Canada

A comprehensive article on the "Decimal Coin of Canada" has been submitted by F. Bowman of Montreal, Canada. Photographs are now being engraved and the first installment will appear at an early date. Mr. Bowman has had access to all the Canadian mint reports since 1870 and will give the first authentic coinage figures on Canadian coins ever to appear. Each type will be illustrated. This will be a valuable catalogue on the decimal coinage of Canada from 1858 to date and we advise interested collectors to write the General Secretary in advance in the event they wish additional copies containing the articles.

Gold Discs for Saudi Arabia

In addition to the 31,210,000 silver coins made at the Philadelphia Mint in 1945 for Saudi Arabia, it is stated on page 7 of the Mint Report that "... 30,430 gold discs .916% fine, were made by the Philadelphia Mint for Saudi Arabia."

It would be interesting to learn the purpose of these discs. Did they end up as medals, coins, watch cases, or dingle-dangles!

Initials on California Gold

Dear Sir:

Can someone please enlighten me as to the significance of the initials on the following California gold coins? 1856—FD; 1860—G; 1871—L; 1865—NFD; 1870—N; 1853—DN; 1853—D; 1853—GG; 1870—H; 1857—B; 1858—K?

There seems to be very little information in regards to these engravers' marks.

—WILLIAM GUILD,
West Newton, Mass.

Answer: Like yourself we have long been puzzled by these signatures and have never been able to find their meaning. Thirty years ago Farran Zerbe unearthed several of them which are as follows: FD—Frautier, Deviercy & Co.; N—Antoine Louis Nouzillet; GG—Gaime, Guillemot & Co.; D—(probably) M. Deriberpe. He also listed NR for Nouzillet & Routhier.

It is not illogical to suppose that some of these signatures were the result of combined work on the part of the engravers. Thus a piece signed G might be either the work of Gaime or Guillemot, before they became a company.

THE CHINESE AMULET

Blow, wind, blow! Blow away the furies

From the hearts of the gods!

I should have sailed

Under the star of the snake

And not under the star of the goat;

But when the wind dashed the life-boat

Against the ship

I thought that I had left the amulet,

My priceless amulet,

My precious amulet

On the cabin couch.

It was not there

And a swirling wave

Swept me on and over

The cluttered deck.

As the sea swallowed me

I felt the silver chain

Around my neck

And grasped the brazen coin

With water-soaked fingers.

The brass disk,

The shen-chien, the divine cash

Rests in a garden of black coral

And green, waving seaweeds;

The brass disk says:

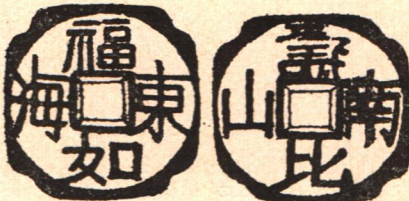

"Fung- ju-tung-hai"

Happiness as great as the Eastern Sea.

Another little joke

Of the merciful gods!

—Gilbert S. Perez

Note by the author: Several years ago on a trip to the West Coast of Leyte, our ship was caught in a terrific typhoon and narrowly escaped the fate of several boats from Cebu which were driven ashore and wrecked.

The next day as I was walking along the beach viewing the wreckage, I found in the flotsam on the beach a Chinese amulet strung on a silver chain. When I returned to Manila I dramatized my find in the above free verse which may interest those who have followed the lure of Oriental amulets.

Octagonal Rupee of Assam

Ordinarily this department does not attempt to identify the unattributed coins owned by collectors but the piece illustrated is of sufficient interest to publish. According to Wm. L. Clark, assistant curator of the American Numismatic Society, it is a silver rupee of Assam coined during the reign of Lakshmi Simha, 1769 to 1780. The piece is dated 1698 of the Saka Era. As this era began in A. D. 78, the actual date of issue is 1776. While it is not a rare coin it is quite desirable and specimens will be found in the cabinets of many collectors.

Tokens of Castries St. Lucia, British West Indies

Dear Editor:

Enclosed are photographs which may be of interest to our fellow collectors. The scene shows the coaling of a steamer at Castries St. Lucia, British West Indies. As the photo shows, both men and women were employed to carry baskets of coal aboard the steamer. No soft job, especially under a hot sun.

For each bushel of coal the carrier received a check which could later be redeemed at the company office. The value of the token varied from time to time.

The piece is in copper and reads PETER "N" AND CO. Below a six pointed star. As yet, I have been unable to learn the meaning of the "N" in the inscription.

quently melted down and refashioned into table silver-ware, the prized heirlooms of genuine coin silver, which are so proudly exhibited today. Silver coins were and still are extensively used by the eastern woman for ornaments, they frequently being part of her dowry. The numismatist knows to his sorrow that if an odd silver or gold piece came into the possession of our grandfathers it was apt to be holed and worn on the watch-chain as a charm." The bride is still apt to wear a small silver coin in her shoe.

The old fashioned large copper cent also had some interesting, although less well known uses. A hole drilled near to and on either side of the center converted it into a button. Before burial a cent was often placed over each of the eyes of the deceased, hence in rural areas an expression of extreme contempt used to be that a man was "mean enough to take the pennies off a dead baby's eyes."

In the days of our forefathers the country doctor had to travel long distances either on horse-back with saddle-bags or in a chaise, he was therefore seldom called for trivial ailments. Our grandmothers developed a remarkable aptitude in treating the usual diseases of childhood. For instance, large bunches of pennyroyal, catnip and other herbs were kept dried in the attic, and the different herb teas were efficient remedies in the milder fevers, principally because of the large amount of hot water they contained.

For ring-worm, an old-fashioned large cent was placed in a saucer with enough vinegar to barely cover it. The verdigris so formed was applied to the ring-worm at frequent intervals. It was an efficient remedy. After a cure had been effected, the cent was removed from the vinegar, cleaned and polished and resumed its usual function of a medium of exchange.

THE PRESERVATION OF IRON COINS

G. C. Heyde

(A paper read before the Numismatic Society of New South Wales)

A method was recently given for the polishing of copper and copper-alloy coins. Despite the brilliance imparted to the coins, or perhaps because of it, it must be pointed out that this particular process was nothing more than a scientific curiosity. It has always been the practice of careful collectors to refrain, for various reasons, from polishing their specimens. Copper and copper-alloy coins, although more liable to corrosion than silver, do not need any special attention for their preservation apart from the basic principles of 1) absence of dampness, and 2) removal of any corrosive substances. The same remarks do not apply to iron and iron-alloy coins; in this case corrosion is liable to, and usually does, occur under normal conditions even after some care has been taken. Thus, whereas chemical treatment is not necessary and may even be damaging (in appearance, if nothing else) to copper specimens, it is practically indispensable for iron coins if they are to be preserved in a state resembling their original condition as far as possible.

The procedure for chemically treating iron coins to preserve them is divided into two stages. The first is to remove all traces of existing corrosion, and the second is to so treat them so that the surface forms a corrosion-resistant skin. With a certain amount of skill and experience this skin may be formed with a pleasing colour and tone. Three solutions are required:

Solution No. 1: 8% solution of ammonium citrate in water; use hot but not boiling.

Solution No. 2: A weak solution of hydrochloric acid.

Solution No. 3: Caustic soda 40 grams; Potassium nitrate 2 grams; Make up to 100 millilitres with water; use at 120° centigrade.

Method: The specimens are immersed in the cleaning solution (No. 1) until corrosion has been removed. Cleaning is made perfectly thorough by quickly dipping the pieces in the weak hydrochloric acid solution (No. 2). The toning solution (No. 3) may call for some adjustments in order that the finished result reaches a suitable and pleasing colour. It is advisable, if success is not attained, that experiments be made by varying the amount of potassium nitrate present. Usual colours vary from browns to blues and with some care a fine deep blue may be produced. A precaution must be taken to see that the whole surface of the specimen is equally exposed to the toning solution; otherwise a patchy result is produced. Bad toning may be removed by the weak acid solution (No. 2) and a fresh start made.

It is always advisable to experiment with a few poor specimens before a good one is subjected to the process. No special claims are made for specimens so treated except that they have considerably more resistance to corrosion than do untreated specimens, in addition to having an enhanced appearance. As the citrate (cleaning solution, No. 1) attacks the rust and not the iron itself, and the toning solution does not attack the iron beyond a few molecules from the surface, the only solution which attacks and may damage the iron is the weak acid solution (No. 2).

Great care should therefore be taken with this solution and the time of immersion in it reduced to a minimum. As numismatics is interested in the preservation of specimens for posterity, I commend this method to numismatists. No claim of originality is made for the method, it having been demonstrated to me by A. S. Lamb, one of my colleagues. A treated coin is exhibited; the treatment was carried out about six months ago on this particular specimen.

As before, a warning is given that only persons experienced in handling "chemicals" should attempt the process.

FROM THE DESK OF THE GENERAL SECRETARY

LEWIS M. REAGAN
P. O. Box 577
Wichita 1, Kansas

GREETINGS from Kansas. The office of the General Secretary has been moved from Brooklyn, New York to Wichita, Kansas. Your careful attention in directing mail to the new address will be appreciated and will result in an earlier reply. In the confusion of moving and a complete change of office staff, some unanswered correspondence may have been misplaced or overlooked. If you have made a request or inquiry which has not been answered, please repeat it for prompt attention.

To New Members

The regular mailing list closes on the 20th of each month. For applications received after that date, the first copies of THE NUMISMATIST on your subscription are mailed from this office. This naturally results in a somewhat later delivery date than may be expected in the regular mailing. Please notify this office if copy fails to reach you after due time. Also, be sure to keep this office informed of any change in address and allow a month for such notice to become effective. Any error in your name or address on the mailing wrapper should be reported immediately.

Membership Directory

The new edition is in process of being printed and every effort will be made to mail a copy to every member with the September issue.

Your patience at the unavoidable delay in its publication is appreciated. When you receive your copy, please check your own listing and report any error that may exist. Great care was taken in the preparation but some errors will probably be found.

Ballots and Proxies

An official ballot for the election of officers for the 1946-47 year was mailed to each member early in July. If you have not returned your ballot, please do so at once. They must reach this office by August 16 unless delivered at the convention. It is both a privilege and a duty to exercise your right to help elect the officers of the Association.

The proxy form should be filled out and returned if you do not expect to be present at the convention. Please do not seal it in the ballot envelope but it may be returned in the same mailing envelope.

To District Secretaries

Please note that after October 1, applications for membership must be accompanied by dues for the calendar year 1947, plus an additional remittance for any issues of The Numismatist for 1946 that may be desired. Issues of January and April 1946 are not available from this office.

Davenport Series to be Reprinted

Frequent requests are received for back copies of The Numismatist containing sections of John S. Davenport's series on "Nineteenth Century Crown Size Coins of Europe." Unfortunately our Secretary cannot always supply such copies, though very often they can be bought from dealers in second-hand books.

It may be of interest to many readers to learn that Mr. Davenport plans to reprint the entire series in book form as soon as conditions permit. He would appreciate receiving any additions and corrections that can be supplied by readers. His is an important contribution to numismatics and we urge all collectors to cooperate.

THE EDITOR'S CORNER

Another "Highly Polished Proof"

A new member of our Association recently showed us a "homemade proof" silver dollar of 1848 for which he paid $45. He was quite proud of it and wanted to know why he was able to get it for so much less than catalogue value!

When he learned that it was nothing more than an ordinary "very fine" piece that had been buffed, he was furious—to the extent of $45 anyway. The coin had been sold to him by a small operator, (his advertisements have never appeared in The Numismatist), and was described in fulsome terms as, "A highly polished proof with much original mint lustre." As if as an afterthought the dealer had added, "One like it recently sold for $135." It was obviously nothing more than a somewhat worn piece that had been polished on a buffing wheel. It had as much "mint lustre" as 95 per cent of the coins we have seen described as such, but as we had a slight head cold we could not smell the "mint lustre" satisfactorily.

Inexperienced collectors should use much caution in buying such coins, especially when they are paying a high price for condition alone. It is much the same as buying a simulated camel-hair coat, a dyed-rabbit fox jacket, or a Mexican diamond at one-third the price of the genuine article. Even with the high prices of today it is still possible to buy many coins at fair prices. When you find an ordinary coin which has a fairly well established value (whether it is $1 or $100) described in beguiling terms it is well to know every detail of the proposition. In particular, beware of any rare proof that is offered as a bargain.

Akron Club to hold Picnic

On Sunday, August 25, members of the Akron Coin Club will hold a Basket Picnic at Central Lake Park, just a few miles west of Akron on Route 18. All nearby members of the A. N. A. are invited to attend. Further information may be obtained from the secretary C. D. Clark, 1796 Goodyear Blvd., Akron 5, Ohio.

Dinner to Lewis M. Reagan

On June 20th, 1946, the day before he left for Wichita to assume a professorship in mathematics in the Municipal University of Wichita, a dinner was given in honor of Lewis M. Reagan by his numismatic friends. Officers of the American Numismatic Association present were Damon G. Douglas, George H. Blake and Martin F. Kortjohn. Letters praising Reagan's work were received from V. Leon Belt and Loyd B. Gettys. The American Numismatic Society was represented by its secretary-curator, Sydney P. Noe. Mrs. Reagan accompanied her diligent husband, meeting many of his friends for the first time.

The meeting was enjoyed by all present. There were a number of brief talks by officers of clubs in the vicinity, including one by Joseph Moss of Philadelphia and Washington. The scheduled speakers were Farran Zerbe, past president and honorary member of the A. N. A., who told about Reagan's predecessors as secretary, and Damon G. Douglas, first vice-president of the A. N. A., who presented him with a fine wrist watch, a gift from his many friends. The Brooklyn Coin Club presented another useful gift, a traveling bag. Mr. Reagan, in giving his thanks for the gifts, promised that he would find the time to travel back to New York at least once a year on visits. C. H. Ryan was toastmaster.

To Write on Technique of Coinage

Mendel L. Peterson, Lieut. SC, USN, the author of "Jungle Mints" which appeared in the February, 1946 issue of The Numismatist, is now at work on an article dealing with the technique of coinage. He invites collectors having prints or information in reference to early coining presses, and machinery incidental to the manufacture of coins to correspond with him. Information as to medals and coins depicting coining processes will also be appreciated. His address is 582 Westford Street, Lowell, Mass.

Making Plaster Casts

Every coin collector interested in the study of numismatics should learn to make a plaster cast of a rare or ancient coin. The procedure is simple and the materials few and inexpensive. A prepared clay called "Plastilene" can be bought at any artist's supply store and at most hardware stores. It costs about 25 cents a pound and that much will last for a long, long time. Then you will need some plaster of paris. Say a pound or so. That's all you need to buy.

The first step is to prepare the moulds. You will need two moulds for each coin, one for the obverse and one for the reverse. The Plastilene can be spread about half inch thick on any flat surface. A cleaner and more convenient method is to make individual moulds by filling containers, that are about half an inch deep and three inches in diameter, with the clay. Glass ash trays make good moulds. After the clay is packed firmly, the surface should be flattened and smoothed. The surface of the clay should now be dusted with talcum powder. Apply it evenly and smooth it on with your finger-tips. The talc prevents the coin from sticking to the clay. Next, press the coin firmly into the clay. After it is in about half the coin's thickness, remove it by upsetting the mould and knocking it gently on a hard surface. The coin should fall out at the first tap, providing the clay has been powdered properly. After the moulds are all prepared, the plaster of paris should be mixed. For a dozen average sized moulds, you will need about half a cup of water. To this, add plaster of paris until it is the consistency of thick cream. Mix it well. With a tea spoon, fill each mould using the utmost care to pour it in from the edge. This helps to prevent air bubbles, the bugaboo of all moulders.

A sure way of preventing air bubbles is to "paint" the inside of the mould with a camel hair brush using the plaster of paris mixture as paint. If it doesn't spread, dip your brush occasionally in water.

In a few hours, or less, the casts should be hard enough to remove. Any rough and irregular edges can be smoothed with a file.

If the method outlined has been accurately followed, the casts should be perfect. In any event, practice makes perfect.

Plaster casts that are made for the purpose of photographing can be improved by mixing a pinch of yellow ochre to the plaster of paris. This gives the cast a brown tint that will give the print a pleasant tone.

Once the casts have been made it does not follow that they should be left as they are. The original color of the coin can be simulated by applying lacquer or paint. Casts that have been given a careful treatment in this manner are difficult to tell, at first glance, from the original specimens.

List of English Patterns

Question: Where can I get a list of English pattern coins?

Answer: Probably the best list obtainable will be found in the back pages of "The Milled Silver Coinage of England," published by Spink & Son, Ltd., London, in 1925. It is well illustrated and gives values. This book may be borrowed from the A. N. A. Library. It is listed under S-97.

Found All But Nine Buffalo Nickels in Circulation

Dear Editor:

After reading the advertisements offering worn coins, particularly the buffalo nickels, I decided to see if they were as "scarce" and "rare" as the "dealers" claim. In the first two weeks after I started, I picked out of circulation all except nine of the entire series. Strangely enough the nine I lack, from 1913 to date, are not "rare" dates, but instead quite common. Living as I do, in the Denver mint area, the dates I could not find, are mostly from the Philadelphia mint. So I attribute my failure to find the missing dates to the fact that they do not circulate as freely out here as do the mint marks. Understand, these are not uncirculated, but neither were those advertised.

REPORTS OF CLUB MEETINGS

SECRETARIES PLEASE NOTE: Reports should be made promptly. Copy must be received by the 10th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue. As a usual thing a copy of the minutes is sent in, and almost invariably a number of items of local concern only must be cancelled. The justification for publishing these accounts lies in the numismatic information—and encouragement—to be derived by collectors generally, regardless of location. On this basis we feel it advisable to revise and condense, and, incidentally, the by-product of this course is conservation of valuable space.

ATLANTA COIN CLUB—The 331st meeting of the Atlanta Coin Club was held Wednesday July 3, at 8:00 P. M. at the Henry Grady Hotel. There were 13 members and 3 visitors present. President T. H. Landgraf presided.

Mr. Gonzales, as District Secretary, invited all new club members to apply for membership in the A. N. A. and reminded those present of the A. N. A. Convention to be held in Davenport, Iowa, August 17-21, 1946.

One of the visitors, John L. Morgan, applied for membership and was admitted.

Exhibits were as follows:

Mr. Moses: A collection of odd and interesting coins originally collected and mounted by the late J. H. Hardwick; Bank of Tennessee notes in $5 and $10 denominations.

Mr. Gonzales: Collection of ancient Greek, Roman and Medieval coins, which were part of the Julius Brown collection sold by Henry Chapman, May 30, 31, 1911; a collection of numismatic freaks and jewelry made from numismatic oddities.

—H. H. JOYNER, Secretary

BALTIMORE COIN CLUB—The meeting of May 16th was called to order by President J. R. Sheckells at 8:10 P. M. with 29 members present.

Mr. Heiserman announced that the program for June 20th would be English Coinage, with each member exhibiting a few of his choice pieces.

Two questions were found in the Question Box, both producing some discussion.

Mr. Cook made a presentation to Past President Strauss, the gift being a specially designed plaque. Mr. Strauss in accepting made a short speech of appreciation.

Following a short auction, Mr. Strauss spoke on the subject, "Documents," bringing out many instances on relationship between collecting coins and collecting historic papers. A display of papers signed by Queen Anne and other rulers as well as American notables proved very interesting. A rising vote of thanks was given to Mr. Strauss.

Just before closing, Arthur W. Stewart commented that just such material as was presented emphasized the need for a projector so that all might better see the items being discussed. President Sheckells stated that this would be looked into again.

—R. C. HALL, Secretary

BIRMINGHAM COIN CLUB—The 17th monthly meeting held Tuesday June 18th 1946 at 8 P. M. in the Auditorium of the White Dairy Co., 621 So. 27th. St. with 16 members and five visitors present.

W. M. Acton donated a Cleveland half dollar as attendance prize, which was won by Mrs. A. H. Mergenthaler.

C. C. Berry was elected a member.

Mr. Mergenthaler made a nice talk on collecting and preserving coins and this talk was most educational and helpful, especially to beginners.

Displays were by:

J. H. Morris: Large collection of Legal Tender Notes, Series of 1890 and 1891; Various small notes with consecutive numbers but different signatures.

A. H. Mergenthaler: Partial set of commemorative half dollars.

O. L. Hurr: Large collection of copper, aluminum and nickel coins of China, Japan and Korea. Also large collection of notes of the same countries, with notes also from The Philippines, Dutch East Indies and Russia.

Visitors welcome at all times.

—O. B. HUDSON, Sec.-Treas.

BRONX COIN CLUB—The 154th regular meeting was held at the Concourse Plaza Hotel on Wednesday, June 26th, President Clark presiding. The warm day held the attendance down to the fourteen members.

Homer Downing, our authority on large cents, gave an extemporaneous talk on the cents of 1793 and 1794, illustrated by nine varieties of the 1793 cents and twenty-three varieties of the 1794 cents. He showed the club a mating diagram of the various dies used in striking these cents which is the first developed for coins of these dates. In his talk Mr. Downing mentioned the engravers who worked on these early cents. They were Droz, Wright and Scott. As to the number of coins recorded as issued, Mr. Downing said that he thought the numbers were accurate, but that the errors were made by collectors when they tried to interpret them for other things than intended.

A paper was read by William L. Clark on the topic "A Demonstration in Heraldry." One of the illustrations was a chart showing the ancestry of the family whose coat of arms was being studied. The speakers received the hearty applause of all present.

The topics for the meeting were the U. S. peace dollars, coins of Brazil and medals and decorations of the Balkan States. Exhibits were as follows:

Mr. Blake: A bronze star awarded by the U. S. and an elaborate Chinese decoration awarded for special services in Burma and China to Master Sergeant Malcolm G. Anderson, the grandson of the exhibitor.

Mr. Clark: Pictures of coins to illustrate talk on heraldry.

Mr. Downing: Nine varieties of 1793 cents and twenty-three varieties of 1794 cents.

Mr. English: Dobrao of John V of Brazil of 1730.

Mr. Gallo: Crowns of Pope Alexander VIII and of Sede Vacante 1669.

Mr. Girolamo: Eleven silver dollars from 1921 to 1935; Canadian silver dollar of 1946; fifty Brazilian coins from Marie I from 1787 to 1946.

Mr. Grunthal: Triple Tyrolian taler of Archduke Leopold; double Tyrolian taler of Archduke Ferdinand; Jenny Lind medal struck over 1850 large cent.

Mr. Kortjohn: 27 types of commemorative coins of Brazil from 1900 to 1939, representing all the major types, and 39 types of other Brazilian coins, mostly of the Twentieth Century.

Mr. Ruditsky: 18 Balkan military medals and seven cards of military items.

Mr. Seeman: Proof trade dollars of 1873, 1878, 1880 and 1883. Set of four coins of celebrated Brazilians issued in 1937 in denominations of 100, 200, 300 and 400 reis.

Mr. Sghia: Type collection of 53 Brazilian coins from Maria to present.

Mr. van der Meer: Double briquet dated 1479 from Holland; 20 mite dated 1480 from Antwerp.

Mr. Wagner: 9 orders and medals of Bulgaria, 3 orders and medals of Greece, 2 orders of Romania, 4 orders and medals of Montenegro and 4 orders and medals of Serbia.

—MARTIN F. KORTJOHN, Secretary

BROOKLYN COIN CLUB—The 155th regular meeting was held on June 5th, at Ryan's Auction Rooms, 124 Boerum Place, Brooklyn, N. Y. Vice President Joseph Silverman presided. There were twenty-five members and six guests present.

Vernon Brown was welcomed back and gave a short talk on his experiences in the armed forces.

Mr. Schortenstein was elected to membership.

A vote of thanks was given to Mr. Ryan for furnishing the meeting room and refreshments.

The following members and guests made exhibits. Messrs. Batson, Blake, Brown, Douglas, Friedberg, Kimpfner, Kraus, Maley, Pollock, Regan, Sadow, D. Schwartz, M. Schwartz, Sghia, Silverman, Susskind, Wishy, Knoth, Hegarty, and Mrs. Douglas.

—JOHN J. HEGARTY, JR., Secretary

CALIFORNIA COIN CLUB—The 220th meeting of the Club convened at a new location on Tuesday evening, July 2, the new meeting place being the Real Estate Auditorium, 953 S. Grand Ave., Los Angeles. Twenty-two members and guests were in attendance.

The meeting had been designated as an "Open Meeting," with no regular speaker, and most of the session was devoted to a discussion of various business matters. In reference to the next meeting it was decided to again assemble on August 6th at the new address. The auditorium is ample in size, well located and well lighted. Harold Budd reported on a recent visit to San Francisco and conference with Edward Fogler, District Secretary in reference to inviting the A. N. A. convention to meet in San Francisco in 1949. The California Coin Club then went on record as favoring this plan and will join with the San Francisco organization in bringing the A. N. A. to California in a fitting celebration of the Centennial of the Discovery of Gold in 1849.

At the August meeting M. P. Carey, one of the charter members of the club, will be the speaker, his subject to be announced later.

—EARLE K. STANTON, Secretary

CALUMET NUMISMATIC CLUB—The 65th regular meeting of the Calumet Numismatic Club, was held Wed. evening, June 19th, at the reception room of the Oil Workers Union Bldg., at Hammond, Ind. R. L. Watkins, the president, presiding with 8 members and 8 visitors attending.

Very interesting reports were made by C. Hand and R. Cahall on the Indianapolis and Muncie, May Open House meetings.

A most enjoying talk was given by Mr. C. Hand, on plastic holders, as to their sizes and the process of manufacturing the same.

Exhibits:

R. L. Watkins $10 Confederate bill, $1 1896 History Instructing Youth and several $1 Hawaii surcharged bills. Beautiful collections of Chinese coins mounted in large plastic holders, 15 half dollars.

Otto Kuechek: 1859 bronze 1/2 dollar pattern.

R. Cahall: Very interesting display old and new coins.

—ANDREW H. SILVOLA, Secretary

COLUMBUS NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The 174th regular meeting was called to order by President West in the Garden Room of the Neil House, with 19 members and 10 visitors in attendance.

John Dawson then placed the motion before the club that the next meeting be held at the home of Mr. Clark, this being in line with Mr. Clark's suggestion at the last meeting. Every member was instructed to bring his wife and box dinner.

Exhibits:

Mel Geiger: Byzantine concave copper; 2 Egyptian green glass coins 800-1200 A. D.; coins of medieval Germany of the 11th century; 4 porcelain coins of Siam; 5 franc piece of Switzerland.

—R. A. HINSHAW, Secretary

DALLAS COIN CLUB—The 219th regular meeting gathered in the Baker Hotel, June 20, with 20 members present. President C. W. Watson presided.

The 1946 Year Book, creditably done, was distributed. It shows 51 collectors on the active membership roll. Since the Club was organized in 1928 its membership record has totaled 100.

Subject of the meeting was "Mexican Coinage." W. Frank Loyd, an authority on the money of our sister Republic, read an excellent paper on the money of Mexico. There was on display Mexican coins, representing many periods of money in Mexico, from the early cob pieces, the Spanish milled dollar, down to modern-day coins of Mexico.

Several members displayed interesting specimens from their collections.

Topic for July meeting is "Starting a Coin Collection" and the leader will be Jack P. Morris.

—R. L. GRIFFITH, Secretary

ELKHART COIN CLUB—William Brimelow, retiring president of the Elkhart Coin Club, installed new officers of the club at a dinner meeting Monday July 8 at the YMCA, as follows: A. O. Goeller, president; Ernest Bowman, vice-president; Merle Toney, secretary-treasurer, and William Brimelow, curator. Suggestions for the year's program were gleaned from descriptions by members, at the suggestion of the new president, of how they started coin collecting.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perry of Toledo, members, and Clyde Hossler of Wakarusa, also spoke. The ladies present told of the various hobbies. Mr. Cook exhibited a collection of proof nickels and quarters and some uncirculated gold coins. A vote of thanks was given Mr. and Mrs. Meiser for preparing the club bulletins.

The new president read a story contributed by Mr. Frank C. Ross of Kansas City, entitled, "An Old Coin Veteran." with apologies to my good friend Bill the Coin Man of Radio Station WTRC, who is a crank on CONDITION but who is otherwise safe and sane.

—MERLE TONEY, Secy.-Treas.

HEART OF AMERICA NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—The 147th regular meeting at the Bellerive Hotel on June 17, with 28 in attendance. The meeting was presided by President Knapp.

George C. Foster was added to the membership roster.

It was decided to hold no meetings in July and August on account of the hot weather, vacations, and the A. N. A. Convention.

C. Allen Harper gave us a resume of the Iowa Numismatic Association meeting held in Des Moines, May 25th and 26th.

George Paris took us for a ride down Mexico way, and gave us an interesting talk about his trip South of the Border.

—HARRY BOSLEY, Secretary

PHILADELPHIA, THE NUMISMATIC AND ANTIQUARIAN SOCIETY OF.—The last meeting of the present season was held May 13, by invitation of J. Stoddell Stokes at Spring Valley Farm.

After a period of refreshments, the 31 members sat down to a delicious dinner after which the meeting was called to order by the President.

Mr. Castor presented a verbal report for the Publication Committee, after which Mr. Morris moved that we authorize that Committee to spend approximately $2,000 to publish a book as planned by the Committee. The motion was seconded by Mr. Hoffman and unanimously carried. The President reported on behalf of the Treasurer that a balance of $2,664.13 was sufficient to cover the cost of the book which it is planned to publish in green paper binding. Mr. Pleasants suggests that those who have written papers should agree to cutting of these papers in order to publish them in the limited space available. Mr. Morris approved of this suggestion but the President thought that each author should be provided with proofs of his article as prepared by the Committee before publication.

The Chairman of the Committee on Numismatics, Mr. Norris, reported that he had received a gift from Tristram C. Colket of a complete set of the publications of the Society bound in two large volumes. He also reported that Mr. Nalle had presented an 1871 Assay medal to the Society. In addition, he reported that the Hon. John M. Scott had a fine collection of coins which was sold at auction two weeks ago by Freeman. The catalogue of the sale is attached to these minutes. It was moved, seconded and unanimously carried that Mr. Nalle should be thanked for his presentation of his medal to the Society. Mr. Garrison presented a lucky pocket piece to the Society. A motion of appreciation for this gift was unanimously passed.

The President then called for a recess and asked our host, Mr. Stokes, to introduce the speaker, Dr. Kimball, whose address was on Early American Furniture which our host had collected in his home. Mr. Stokes supplemented Dr. Kimball's remarks in regard to some of his fine pieces.

At the close of the discussion which followed the address, motions of thanks to our host and to our speaker were unanimously passed.

PITTSBURGH COIN CLUB—Regular meeting held June 21, in the Secretary's office, 218 Fourth Ave., Pittsburgh. Dr. Hepting, Vice President presided in the absence of the President. Twelve members and one visitor were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent in reviewing some of the experiences the members had had in collecting coins.

Exhibits:

Mr. Sallach: Complete set Lincoln cents and numerous foreign silver coins; James Kerr: Russian ruble 1897; Irish farthing; Portuguese Angola ¼ macuta; and Morocco 3 falu 1285; Mr. Reynolds: An interesting 200 fen note of China on which a patriotic engraver had worked into the design the letters USAC meaning "United States Army Coming," for which activity he was said to have lost his life; J. Edgar Cunningham: Proof 3 cent 1882; Dr. Hepting: Set Lincoln cents; Howard Gibbs: Numerous crowns; Chinese silver sycee of an entirely new type; China bridge; Celtic, Japan, Korea and other gold ring money; Inca copper money and other odd and curious media.

—H. D. GIBBS, Secretary

RICHMOND COIN CLUB—The sixty-first regular meeting was held at 8 P. M. on Wednesday, June 12, at the home of Mr. & Mrs. O. L. Lewis, 421 N. Boulevard.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Lewis, at 8:30 after an informal chat on the usual and sundry topics of the day, numismatic and otherwise, which was heartily indulged in to the mutual enjoyment of all. Six members and two guests were present, including our newly acquired and very active member, Mr. Shank, from Louisa, Virginia.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the report by Mrs. Lewis on the result of telephonic conversations with the numerous members whom she notified by phone of the change in meeting place, and the reasons advanced for non-attendance of the regular meetings. In most instances the members were either out of town on business or working evenings, which affords testimony to their continued interest in the Club, as evidenced by faithful payment of their annual dues.

During the meeting it was unanimously voted to suspend regular meetings during July and August, as has been the usual custom of the Club, owing to the uncomfortable heat as well as absences for vacation.

After the formal disposition of the regular business of the Club, the remainder of the evening was devoted to the displays and the study of the "Silver Ecus of France," on which topic Mrs. Lewis read a paper, setting forth the different rulers and the coinage of each from Louis XIII to the present. The paper was supplemented by a display of 35 different types of silver ecus, ecus of six livres and 5 franc pieces, representing every monarch or ruler from Louis XIII to the latest 20 Franc piece of 1933, with several different varieties of Louis XIV, Louis XV, and during the Revolutionary and Napoleonic periods. In this display of French silver ecus no more striking illustration could be found to support the numismatic allegation that a study of the coinage or money of a country affords a fruitful field of research and insight into that country's political and economic history. The designs of the coins indicate political changes and upheavals, while the silver content and values indicate periods of deflation and debasement of the coinage indicative of economic crises.

In addition to the display of French ecus and 5 franc pieces, including the last 20 franc piece, Mrs. Lewis displayed an almost complete set of paper currency issued by the Confederate States of America, including the four denominations first issued in 1861 from the first Confederate capital at Montgomery, Alabama, though time did not permit any detailed discussion of this currency.

Mr. Shank displayed complete U. S. mint sets from 1934 to 1945 in holders housing the three mint sets for each year in a single album page. This appealed to the other members as a more unique way of housing their mint sets than by the small holders for a single mint each.

At the close of the meeting our genial vice president, Mr. Howe, graciously extended an invitation to the members and guests present to visit him at his spacious residence at 5006 Cary Street Road for an informal get-together coin fest during the summer, which appealed to all alike, who know of Mr. Howe's hospitality and the pleasant evenings on the cool, sequestered vine-clad porches at his residence. It was accordingly tentatively agreed that the "gang" would meet at Mr. Howe's residence on July 10, 1946.

—O. L. LEWIS, Secretary

ROCHESTER NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—769th Regular Meeting held June 18th with President Barney Bloom presiding. Twenty-one members and one visitor were present.

A motion was made by Floyd Newell and seconded by Clark Place that a vote of thanks be extended to George Bauer for his donation of 80 Canadian Tokens. The motion was unanimously adopted.

Charles Foster urged that a large turnout be on hand for the "Quiz of Two Cities" radio program between the Rochester Numismatic Association and the Buffalo Coin Club to be held on 6/30/46 over WHAM at the Sheraton Hotel.

(NOTE: The "Quiz of Two Cities" radio program was held on 6/30/46 over Station WHAM with Valence Judson, Frank Eichorn, Clark Place and John Pittman participating for the Rochester Numismatic Association. The Buffalo Coin Club was the winner over Rochester by a very close margin. Thirty-one silver dollars and two Bulova wrist watches were won by Rochester. The watches have been sold and the total proceeds have been applied to the Rochester Numismatic Association's special fund.)

The newly elected officers for the year June 1946 through May 1947 were installed by George J. Bauer. They are: President, F. E. Eichorn; vice president, F. Cady; secretary, J. J. Pittman; treasurer, S. C. Place; curator, F. B. Newell; librarian, A. J. Pittinger.

President Frank Eichorn then asked Edward Meinhart to introduce the Jack Cohen Appreciation Program. Meinhart introduced Jack Cohen and told something about his interest in medal collecting and brought to the attention of members and visitors present that we were honoring Jack Cohen, a medals and military decorations collector for his long and extended interest in the Rochester Numismatic Association. Jack was presented a number of badges and medals by the members as a token of our esteem for him. He is a hard working member and participates in the activities of the association. Jack Cohen replied to Meinhart's remarks and told how he became interested in collecting military decorations. Many years ago when the first N. Y. State G. A. R. encampment was held in Rochester, Jack Cohen was a guide to a veteran. At the end of the encampment the veteran gave Jack his badge and with the receipt of that badge Jack became a collector of military decorations. Jack Cohen donated a number of G. A. R. medals and encampment badges to the Rochester Numismatic Association collection. A motion by Newell, seconded by Lindboe to extend a vote of thanks to Jack Cohen for his gift of the badges was passed unanimously.

A box of stationery as a door prize (donated by Jack Cohen) was won by John Pittman.

It was brought to the attention of the association members that Alphonse Kolb, our die sinker and medalist at Bastian Brothers, has prepared the designs for the coming American Numismatic Association Convention medal. The design of the medal is very interesting and Kolb was congratulated on his handiwork.

—J. J. PITTMAN, Secretary

SPRINGFIELD COIN CLUB—341st Meeting, instead of the usual Picnic, was held June 11, at the Museum Of Fine Arts. President Wurtz presided with ten members and six guests present.

Mr. Lewis Reagan, General Secretary of the A. N. A. as special guest gave a brief talk and displayed crown size dollars of various countries of the world, a quarter eagle and a proof set of 1937. Some of the coins were set in plastic holders of considerable interest. A part of the coins were from the Batterson collection left to the A. N. A. Other out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Katen of New Haven, Conn.

An invitation to the New England Conference to be held on July 20, in Boston was read and members urged to attend.

An hour of movies, including the 1939 A. N. A. convention, taken by Mr. MacIntosh and put on by him was thoroughly enjoyed. Howard Wheeler also brought two reels that filled out the program nicely.

—G. L. SANDBURG, Secretary

WASHINGTON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The regular meeting was held at the U. S. National Museum on July 1st.

U. S. Dollars, half dollars and foreign gold was the general topic of the evening.

Many foreign gold pieces were displayed by Col. Joseph Moss who was the principal speaker of the evening. In his collection were some very rare gold pieces from Turkey, Albania, et cetera.

Geo. S. Vandervende spoke on the possibility of melting down U. S. silver dollars and advocated building up a good collection of dollars before they are taken out of circulation. Charles E. McCormick also spoke on U. S. silver dollars.

Mr. Hepner who displayed such a fine collection in his store window on National Coin Week again exhibited an unusually fine collection of dollars at the meeting.

Edward S. Weikert, Jr., spoke on Presidential medals including the new President Truman medal.

—HARRY A. RATHWELL, Secretary

WESTCHESTER COUNTY COIN CLUB—The 144th regular meeting was held in the New Rochelle Y. M. C. A. on June 18, with sixteen members and two guests in attendance. The meeting was called to order at 8:30 P. M. by President Weidhaas who thereafter presided over the evening's activities. Our guests for the evening, Messrs. Harmon and Weidhaas, Jr., were cordially welcomed, as was our member Christian Jacobs, long absent from our gatherings. Communications received by the Secretary were read and discussed. Members when canvassed as to their opinions on summer meetings unanimously voted to continue meeting every month as per usual.

The topic of the evening was "U. S. Quarter Dollars" and the exhibits presented by members were as follows:

Mr. Jacobs: Quarter dollars 1807, 1835, 1861, 1894 S, 1923 S, 1930, 1938 S; Queen Isabella commemorative 1893; 1893 $10 gold.

Mr. Weidhaas: Isabella commemorative quarter in proof; 1932 D uncirculated. Kirtland bills issued by the Mormon colony in $2, $5 and $10 denominations.

Mr. Tarter brought in a bag of the older types of half dollars which were auctioned off by Mr. Dewey. Any sums exceeding 75 cents per coin were donated to the club treasury.

Next month's topic will be "U. S. Dimes and Coins of the Iberian peninsula."

—WM. PEARSON, Secretary

WESTERN MARYLAND COIN CLUB—

The June meeting was held Wednesday, 26th at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club starting with dinner at 6:00 p. m. There were 24 members and their guests present.

After a delightful dinner the meeting was called to order by President Charles. The door prizes were won by Mrs. Martin L. Johnson and Luther Hutter.

After a short business session members and ladies enjoyed playing cards with prizes going to Mrs. Stingley and Mrs. Charles E. Morris for the ladies and Martin Watson and B. G. Charles.

Arrangements for this meeting were made by Mr. Funkhouser, and he received lots of compliments for arranging such a nice dinner and party.

—MARTIN L. JOHNSON, Secretary

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The regular meeting held July 2, in the Polish Room of the Cathedral of Learning, with present Sidney K. Eastwood presiding.

The exhibits were:

Coatsworth: U. S. uncirculated coins 1909 to 1936.

Marlier: A group of U. S. uncirculated and proof coins, 1909 to date.

Eastwood: Tokens of Warwickshire.

Kachmar: Coins of Turkey, Tunisia, Travancore, Uruguay and Venezuela.

ADVERTISERS PLEASE NOTE

All correspondence relating to advertising should be addressed to the Business Manager (see above). Make all remittances payable to the American Numismatic Association.

Advertising Contracts: These are available, covering periods of three, six and twelve consecutive months for display space as listed in the above Table of Rates, and are necessary if the schedule of reduced rates is to apply. If the advertiser prefers not to accept the Contract, such reduced rates will be granted only upon payment in advance for the period desired.

References: All advertisers who submit copy for the first time are definitely requested to furnish therewith banking or other satisfactory references.

Available Space Units: Practical considerations restrict the allocation of space units to those listed in the above table. Any amount of space is available IF these units or a combination of them are used. Unless contrary instructions are given, copy will be cut if found too full for the space designated; if no designation is made, it shall be understood the amount of space is left to the discretion of the Editor.

Classified Ads: The cost is computed at five cents per word each insertion: initials (two), numbers and abbreviations to count as words. Minimum charge, $1.00. Remittance must accompany copy. These will be set in 6 point Roman; no display type.

Deadline: Copy must be received by the 10th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue.

Miscellaneous: Please furnish copy separately from your letter of transmittal. Advertising copy included in the body of a letter usually has to be re-typed for the printer; this should not be required.

Advertising copy should be prepared with minute care. Carelessness invites error—something which both advertiser and publisher are anxious to avoid. Use only one side of the sheet.

In the absence of an Advertising Contract, when payment in advance for any number of consecutive months has been made, if change of copy has not been received by the 10th of the month for the next issue, the latest preceding advertisement will be run.

Advertisers may use a trade name, but, except in the case of an incorporated concern, the name of the proprietor or of some other responsible person connected with the firm must also appear in the advertisement.

The right to edit copy, to require payment in advance, and to decline any advertisement is specifically reserved. Superlatives prohibited.

REPORT ON
The Great Atwater Sale

By B. MAX MEHL

This is NOT intended as an advertisement or as a boast, but simply as a matter of information to the numismatic public—information which I believe will be of interest and value to every collector of the coinage of the United States.

The Celebrated
WILLIAM CUTLER ATWATER COLLECTION
of New York City

sold by me at auction on June 11th, brought a record total of

$153,514.60

I KNOW that this is the largest amount ever realized for a coin sale held in this country! And, as far as I can find any record, it is the largest amount ever realized from a single coin sale anywhere in the world!

The CATALOGUE has been pronounced as the finest ever published anywhere. As one prominent collector put it: "As to the reading matter, you positively have made it a text book as well as the finest coin catalogue ever to leave the press."

Just a few copies of superb Catalogue and Price List, showing the amounts realized for each and every one of the 2,400 items, are now available. Price, $5.00. Postage free.

Yours for continued proven successful numismatic service, either in buying from you, or selling to you or for you.

Your correspondence cordially invited.

I AM PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE
The Acquisition of the Fine Numismatic Collection
Formed by the late
William C. Woodbury
of Rochester, New York

This is not, of course, an Atwater Collection. But IT IS a fine above-the-average collection of American coins, foreign coins and curious coins. It will require no stretch of the imagination to make it a real "MEHL QUALITY SALE."

I am now in my forty-sixth year of successfully serving the numismatic public. Capital and financial resources are ample to guarantee you against loss of any kind. Capital over $500,000.00. Resources nearly double that amount.

Whatever your numismatic requirement—regardless how small or how large—you are assured of prompt and kindly service. Your correspondence is invited.

A Rare and Historical Coin

THE 1861 CONFEDERATE HALF DOLLAR

As far as we know this is the only existing original specimen outside of the one in the collection of The American Numismatic Society. Price on application.

SOME HISTORY ON THIS INTERESTING PIECE

From "The Coin Collectors Journal," June, 1879:

The silver Half Dollar whose impression adorns our page was made by Confederate officials in the Confederate mint. The obverse is from the same die as our 1861 Half Dollar; in fact the die used was the identical die prepared for the issue by the New Orleans Mint for the National coins, the reverse being discarded and a new die prepared in its stead. On this reverse is the American shield with only seven stars in the upper section to represent the seven seceding States, surmounted by a Liberty Cap and inclosed by branches of sugar cane and cotton in bloom, with legend CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA, and HALF DOL. in the exergue.

This piece is a genuine issue on the part of the Confederate Government. Its history is as follows: In February, 1861 the New Orleans Mint fell into the hands of the Confederates. Their government then in session at Montgomery ordered the preparation of a die for silver coin. In April Mr. Memminger, Secretary of the Treasury, called for designs for a Half Dollar. Out of several submitted to him, he selected the one we exhibit, and directed Mr. A. H. M. Peterson, who is still living in New Orleans, to prepare the dies. This gentleman did so, aided by Mr. Conrad Schmidt, the foreman of the coining room, and from these dies four specimen pieces were struck. Of these four coins, one was sent to the Government; one to Professor Riddell, of the University of Louisiana; one to Dr. E. Ames, of New Orleans; and one was retained by B. F. Taylor, M. D., the Chief Coiner of the C. S. A.

It was much easier for the Confederate Government, however, to prepare the dies for issuing coins than to find the bullion for the coins themselves, and so as this latter could not be obtained, the Confederate Secretary ordered, on the 30th April, 1861, that the operations cease and the mint be closed.

We have great pleasure in stating that this most interesting Half Dollar has come into the possession of our publishers.

Of the other three coins, one was in the possession of Mr. Jefferson Davis at the time of his capture, and was taken from him with other valuables by the officers securing him. It has not since been heard of. No trace of the other two coins can be obtained from the day they were presented to the gentlemen above named to the present day.

From "The Numismatist," March, 1910:

The Confederate Half Dollar has, in recent weeks, been a subject of considerable numismatic interest and discussion in the East—due to the only located original specimen having been offered for public competition at the Elder sale, in New York, March 11th, 1910. That the Confederacy had a coinage was evidently unknown until about 1879, when the late E. Mason, Jr., numismatist of Philadelphia, located a specimen of what proved to be a Confederate Half Dollar, and with it the reverse die from which it was struck, in the possession of Dr. B. F. Taylor.

With the genuineness of the coin established, Mr. Mason purchased the specimen and the die from Dr. Taylor, and the coin and die were sold May, 1879, to Mr. J. W. Scott, of New York.

The recent sale of the coin was widely advertised in advance, and considerable interest attended its sale for the reason that while it was announced and catalogued "to be sold without reserve" it was known to a number that unless the coin brought $4,000.00 it would not be sold. The lot was started at $1,000.00 and at first jumped $500.00 at a bid, then $250.00 was the mover to $3,750.00, when the bidding ceased, and "Eagle" was announced by Mr. Elder as the purchaser. Since the coin at public auction did not reach the price which was considered a protection mark for it, and as the name of the purchaser has not been announced, there is a question in some minds if the coin has, in this instance, changed ownership.

Compared with the prices commanded by coins having practically no historical association, and that this is a decidedly historic coin and the only known existing specimen of a total coinage of four pieces, and the only coin of any kind ever attempted by the Confederate States of America, it may well be considered a very valuable coin, and we will not be surprised to know that the coin was taken care of at public sale and has or will very soon become the property of a prominent collector at private sale.

From "The Numismatist," September, 1918:

Under the heading of "American Numismatic Society."

The Society has recently acquired, through the munificent gift of Mr. J. Sanford Saltus, the famous Confederate Half Dollar. This identical piece was the first one known, and until a few years ago was the only one that had come to light.

It is in perfect condition and weighs 192½ grains, 192 grains being the weight of the regular U. S. Half Dollar at the time. Another specimen turned up in 1910 at Rondout, N. Y., and was purchased by Mr. H. O. Granberg of Oshkosh, Wis. This second specimen shows considerable signs of wear. To whom this specimen originally belonged has never been ascertained.

TWO MORE RARITIES

1792 DISME

About three are known. This is the same specimen that was sold in the Parmalee sale in 1890. As far as we know there has been none sold at auction since then. Price on application.

1849 $10.00 OREGON EXCHANGE

These Oregon pieces contained about eight per cent more gold than they should have. When this was discovered most of the coins were bought up and melted for gold. Very rare. Price on application.

WANTED:

The demand for high grade foreign coins remains insatiable, and we are in the market to buy INDIVIDUAL COINS OR ENTIRE COLLECTIONS for immediate cash in full. Foreign coins are now bringing the highest prices in American numismatic history, and we are prepared to pay such prices for desirable material. You may either send us the coins, or a list of them, for our appraisal.

We will travel anywhere in the United States or abroad in pursuance of our buying activities.

Announce the Opening of a New Department:

COIN BROKERAGE

This department is created for the collector who is reluctant to sell at auction, or to submit his coins for an offer. All you have to do is to send them in with THE PRICES YOU WANT, and we will endeavor to sell them for you at the prices YOU SUGGEST.

THERE IS NO GUESS WORK; YOU WILL KNOW IMMEDIATELY HOW MUCH YOU WILL RECEIVE FOR YOUR COINS.

Our large "over the counter" and mail order departments give you an advantage few dealers can offer. An enormous number of collectors visit our salesroom every year, and our competent staff of experts know how to sell your coins.

Our nominal brokerage fee is your only cost. No extra charge for insurance against fire or theft.

Brokerage Fees:

$ 25.00 Coins .....	15%
$ 50.00 Coins .....	12½%
$100.00 or more .....	10%

Unless in conjunction with a collection, individual coins valued at less than $25.00 are respectfully declined. Correspondence invited.

PROMPT SETTLEMENTS GUARANTEED.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I have diligently searched throughout most of the principal cities of China for someone who is really an authority on Chinese silver Dollars. My labours were not in vain. After associating with Mr. H. Chang of the Chinese Numismatic Gallery in Shanghai for several months, I was convinced that he is the best informed man in the world on this subject.

As a result of our association we are happy to announce our forthcoming book,

CHINESE SILVER DOLLARS

By

H. Chang and Dennis W. Sibert

Due to the fact that a number of noted collections have contained bogus pieces or "coins" that never existed, we have devoted an entire chapter to bogus and counterfeit Chinese silver Dollars, with actual photographs of these fakes.

For the photography we have had available the E. Kahn collection, one of the finest of Chinese silver Dollars ever assembled. Most of these silver Dollars are uniquely different, and, with the exception of a few coins, actual size photos accompany every description.

This book contains much information that has never before been published. Over one hundred experts have been consulted regarding the many minor features that are too numerous to mention here.

One feature of outstanding value to the collector is a table of comparative rarity, giving the approximate number of each of these coins in existence.

The book itself will be beautiful—the finest work of art that the modern publisher can produce.

It may be obtained by reservation only, and only one hundred copies above actual requests will be published. The price is ten dollars.

FOREIGN COIN ALBUM

It is now being made. Yes, it's true, an album that will hold foreign coins is now a reality—and what an album! It has handsome black pages that will show off your coins to best advantage—sliding cel-luloid to protect your coins while-permitting easy removal of any coin from the page—silver titles—size 8" x 10½" with holes punched to fit any standard 8" x 10½" 3-ring binder—and well balanced layouts. Even if you're not a foreign coin collector, this album will make you consider collecting the attractive coins of other lands, now that they can be so beautifully mounted and displayed.

The first three pages are ready. They are:

- #1. CANADA: 20th Century silver, nickel, and copper coins of Victoria, Edward VII, and George V.
- #2. CANADA: silver, nickel, brass and copper coins of George VI.
- #3. UNITED STATES: 20th Century silver, nickel, and copper coins (type collection).

PRICE: $1.25 for each page, postpaid.

If you want these pages, be sure to ask your dealer for them soon, as the supply is limited. If your dealer doesn't have them, write to us direct.

Future pages will cover the world, and will be issued as fast as your patronage and material supplies permit. 20th Century coins will be completed first.

DEALERS: Write for discount.

MATERIAL FOR AUCTION No. 3

I am now soliciting additional consignments for my third auction, scheduled for October. My first two auctions were great successes, both from the standpoint of seller and buyer. My entry into the auction sale field was no mere whim or trial but based on sound common sense.

Please consider the following five points before making any commitment on selling your collection:

1. SOUND AUCTION POLICY, as announced in the January, 1946, Numismatist, has met with universal approval.

2. EXPERT CATALOGUING; the better your coins are described, the higher the prices realized. Our knowledge of all phases of numismatics makes for our pleasure and your profit.

3. ATTRACTIVE CATALOGUES. Our first and second catalogues were praised for their neatness and accessibility to contents. Attractive and rare pieces are illustrated. An index that really works is another feature.

4. MAILING LIST. We do not claim astronomical figures on the size of our list. We merely state that we believe we have a comprehensive list. Our second catalogue went to 6,412 collectors. This figure may be verified with the New Haven Post Office. In addition our mailing list is on stencils and kept up-to-date by using Post Office form 3547 and the monthly changes in the Numismatist.

5. TERMS: Our selling terms are fair and will be submitted to any interested collector. Cash settlement within thirty days after the sale.

MEET YOU IN DAVENPORT, AUGUST 17-21

NUMISMATIC WISDOM—

"Are your heirs as competent as yourself in liquidating your coins?"

Our June auction was a tremendous success. We thank all who participated in this sale.

Consignments solicited for forthcoming auctions. Satisfactory results are assured. We especially desire a general collection valued between $50,000 and $100,000 for which we will make a liberal cash advance.

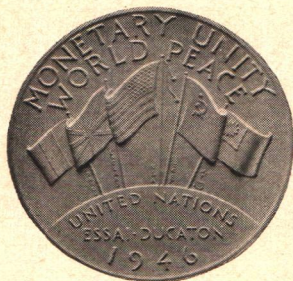

If you prefer to sell for cash, send for our Free 24-page booklet, entitled "Before You Sell." It may mean extra profits to you.

TATHAM STAMP & COIN CO. - SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

United Nations Monetary Pattern

SOMETHING NEW—JUST RELEASED

A splendid and beautiful addition to numismatics; illustration speaks for itself.

An inspiring item for all collectors, it will be available to those who respond at once. The issue is limited.

No matter what country you specialize in—the UNITED NATIONS cover it!

Baldwin & Co. $20 Gold, 1851

This coin is one of the great rarities of the Pioneer series. To the best of my knowledge not one single specimen of this coin has been offered at auction in more than 20 years. In cataloguing the great Nygren sale, April, 1924, Henry Chapman said: "Of the greatest rarity, one of the gems of this collection. This example is so fine that it supplies part of the inscription on diadem which Mr. Adams in his admirable book on these coins omits, Viz.: & C. after Baldwin on diadem; see his No. 43, page 75, second line." This one also shows VERY PLAINLY the same inscription as the Nygren specimen. Incidentally, the Nygren specimen sold, in 1924 mind you, for $2,525.00, which is no guide for the present, we all admit. Extremely fine, with microscopic lines in obv. field, and light edge dents on rev. Ninety-five per cent of original mint luster still showing; a beautiful gem coin. Serious collectors write for price.

$5.00 1849 Oregon. The "Beaver" coin. Very fine but VERY SKILLFULLY REPAIRED AT EDGE. Design and all letters distinct. Another VERY RARE ITEM. $200.00

If your rare coins are for sale it will be to your interest to write me.

MEXICAN GOLD COINS

Owing to the increase in the price of gold from $35.00 per ounce to $40.61, which became effective in Mexico JUNE 1, we have been forced to cancel all prices on MEXICAN GOLD COINS.

We filled all orders received from our advertisements in the numismatic journals up to June 30, although we were forced to pay the increased price for many of them, our correspondents being unable to fill the orders we had placed.

If interested, please write for our NEW PRICES.

AN EXPLANATION

Due to the publisher being held up so long by scarcity of paper and rush of the presses, the 1946 edition of The American Catalogue of U. S. Coins will not be issued.

We are taking orders now for the 16th or 1947 catalogue which will be in our hands for delivery at an early date. May we have your order now?

We are in need of Indian Cents in fine to very fine condition, all dates, and request your offer of sale. Write us today.

When in need of numismatic supplies, give us a trial. We shall try to please you.

We are now located in our office and wish to thank our clients for their patience with those delays on account of our moving during the past few weeks.

NUMISMATIST REPRINTS FOR SALE

Aluminum Coins, by Martin Kortjohn .....	8 pages, 25c
Heraldry, by Dudley Butler .....	18 pages, 35c
Copper Coins of Denmark, by O. P. Eklund .....	16 pages, 35c
War Prisoner Money and Medals, by Guido Kisch .....	24 pages, 40c

"Aluminum Coins" is a comprehensive monograph on this interesting subject, about which too little had been written. Representing extensive research by Mr. Kortjohn, former A. N. A. president, the work provides much interesting background material, and contains three plates.

"Heraldry" also is marked with fine illustrations and historical material, by an outstanding authority on this subject.

The articles by Mr. Eklund are always thorough as well as interesting, and his newest work on "Copper Coins of Denmark and Her Possessions" is no exception. The monograph is illustrated with photographs of coins from the author's collection. (A reprint will be available soon on copper coins of Norway.)

In "War Prisoner Money and Medals," Mr. Kisch did not stop with mere illustrations and descriptions, but provides a splendid history and the reasons behind prisoner of war money. He has included a bibliography which will prove a valuable reference.

These reprints are 6"x9", bound in heavy blue paper, and will fit into any numismatic library. The preparation of reprints is an experiment of the A. N. A. They are offered at cost through the efforts of the special committee appointed last summer. Whether others will be offered depends largely upon the response to this effort.

All reprints are shipped prepaid.

IF YOU BUY MODERATELY PRICED COINS OF THE BETTER CLASS

I have just purchased a collection of U. S. coins, strong in specimens in very nice condition: Half Dollars in early dates, a choice lot of extremely fine Half Cents, a good lot (no rarities) of desirable early large Cents.

Also have a beautiful lot of early European Crowns, mostly unc.; and a nice lot of unc. U. S. Fractional Currency.

This ad will not interest scalpers who may think I am a beginner and do not know values. Let me say that I started my first collection of coins in 1885; I attended all the coin auctions in Chicago for many years, and have broken up a number of valuable collections.
